Congress In Override On Clean Water

Action Ignores Nixon's Warning On Tax Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress overrode President Nixon's veto of a $24.6 billion clean water bill today, ignoring White House warnings that the measure was inflationary and would increase chances of higher taxes.

The House voted the antipollution measure into law a little over 12 hours after the Senate did the same in a postmidnight session soon after Nixon vetoed the measure and issued a stinging statement denouncing "charge account congressmen."

The House roll call was 247 to 23, a margin of more than 9-1 whereas only two-thirds approval was needed. The Senate likewise had exceeded the two-thirds majority with plenty to spare, 52 to 12.

By rejecting 39-27 legislation to give Nixon broad powers to control federal spending this fiscal year, the Senate forced the bill back to a House-Senate conference. The conferees were confronted with the problem of working out a new compromise on spending or burying it in favor of simple legislation to raise the national debt to $465 billion.

Second F-111 Jet Downed

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. command today announced the crash of two jet fighter-bombers—one of them a swingwing F111, the second of the controversial warplanes to crash over North Vietnam since they returned to Indochina three weeks ago.

The $15 million swingwing F111 all-weather bomber and its two crewmen were lost on a raid over the North Tuesday, the command said, and an F4 Phantom crashed just before dawn today about 10 miles north of its base at Ubon, Thailand, after a bombing run in North Vietnam.

Spokesmen said the radar-guied F111s remained airborne despite the Tuesday loss and flew night missions north of Hanoi when monsoon weather restricted U.S. bombing raids over Vietnam to 280 tactical strikes.

It was the second F111 crash over the North since 48 of the sophisticated planes returned to Indochina combat duty Sept. 28 following a four-year absence ascribed to persistent mechanical malfunctions. Hanoi Radio monitored in Saigon today said North Vietnamese antiaircraft gunners "blasted to pieces" the F111 Tuesday over Vinh Phu Province northwest of Hanoi.

The first F111, lost since the return of the planes, failed to return from a Sept. 28 mission over North Vietnam — the same day the planes arrived in Thailand. The plane has never been found and its crew is still listed as missing.

Hanoi Radio claimed the first F111 was also shot down along North Vietnam's northwest rail line in Vinh Phy province. It gave no information about the fate of the crew and U.S. military officials in Saigon, who said only that the plane crashed of unknown causes, were skeptical of the report.

The Communist broadcast said the two crewmen were killed but the U.S. command officially listed them as missing in action and said the "cause and location of the apparent crash are unknown."

Spokesmen said the two Phantom crewmen "were immediately rescued by a locally based helicopter" with no injuries reported. They said cause of the Phantom crash was likewise unknown.

In other war developments:

The Saigon command said government troops Tuesday drove the Communists from two Central Highlands hamlets seized earlier in the day. But the North Vietnamese remained in control of four other hamlets in the highlands, where cautured documents indicate a new country-wide offensive has been ordered for tnis weekend.

Field reports said govern reports said government troops today reopened Highway 1 outside the province capital of Xuan Loc, 38 miles northeast of Saigon. Communist soldiers had severed the Saigon-Phnom Penh link for five days. UPI correspondent Donald Davis said hundreds of vehicles, many loaded with rotting food and vegetables, began moving toward Saigon today.

Hanoi Claiming No Peace Break

PARIS (UPI)—The North Vietnamese peace delegation said today no breakthrough has been achieved in secret negotiations with White House adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

"As of today, Oct. 18, we must say that the Nixon administration refuses to put an end to its aggression and to abandon the traitor Nguyen Van Thieu," a Hanoi delegation spokesman said.

"Up to this day the Vietnamese program has not been settled" the spokesman said at a crowded news conference at the delegation headquarters.

Nguyen Thanh Le, the Hanoi Delegation Paris spokesman, was questioned on whether the round of secret talks the past few days had achieved progress.

"The United States maintains an intransigent position on both military and political questions," he told newsmen.

Le said President Nixon's remarks Oct. 16 showed "that the president sticks to his erroneous position" on Vietnam.

Le spoke in emotional tones, his right hand punctuating his verbal attacks on President Nixon while he talked into a battery of radio and television microphones in the smokefilled Hanoi delegation press room.

Kissinger met Tuesday with Xuan Thuy, head of North Vietnam's delegation to the weekly peace talks on Kleber Avenue. It was the 20th private negotiating session between the White House adviser and the North Vietnamese.

Le said Hanoi stood by its demand that the United States comply with the Viet Cong peace package, repeatedly turned down by Washington. It demands a unilateral U. S. military disengagement and the creation of a coalition government in Saigon with Viet Cong participation to come after the resignation of President Thieu.

"The Nixon administration is using Thieu as the spokesman of the most intransigent and bellicose U. S. circles," Le said.

Forecasters Predicting Sunshine For Tomorrow

Weather forecasters had their fingers crossed today, but kept insisting that sunshine should return to Northern California for a longer stay tomorrow.

Meanwhile the skies dripped for the ninth straight day, after a brief overnight clearing that treated Marin County skywatchers to a spectacular view of monstrous cumulus clouds towering over the East Bay at sunset.

The huge cloud that deluged East Oakland and wiped out the World Series baseball game last night "looked almost like an atomic bomb mushroom," many Marin observers said.

Rainbows were plentiful as showers returned to Marin shortly after sunrise today.

Forecasters predicted there is only a 20 per cent chance of rain tonight and tomorrow should be mostly fair, as a result of gradual weakening of a cold air mass that has hovered over the coast for nine days. A storm center has been trapped off the coast, sending wave after wave of rainclouds over Northern California.

During the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today, Novato had no measurable rainfall; Sausalito only .03 inch; Bolinas .04 inch; and Petaluma .15 inch.

The respite gave Southern Marin a chance to dry out, after a four-hour downpour late Monday that trapped some restaurant-goers' cars in parking lots, hampered commute traffic and flooded a number of residential yards and business firms.

(Richard Kenney, owner of Southern Marin Auto Body Reconstruction today said that yesterday's Independent-Journal report of two-foot flooding in his repair shop was the result of a misunderstanding. Kenney said he had told the Sausalito Fire Department there was two feet of water on the lot and the firemen thought he had meant indoors as well. No more than six or seven inches invaded his shop, he said.)

The hail and torrential rain that hit the Oakland Coliseum area just before the scheduled East Bay debut of World Series baseball not only canceled the game but created a tremendous traffic jam on the nearby Nimitz Freeway. A series of accidents trapped many disappointed fans trying to leave the stadium, in a tangle that reportedly took California Highway Patrol officers seven hours to clear.

Many Marin County fans shunned the Nimitz and returned home quickly via the MacArthur Freeway.

Kissinger Arrives In Saigon For Talks

SAIGON (UPI)—Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's special peace envoy, arrived in Saigon tonight from Paris for the second round of secret, high-level talks with South Vietnamese leaders in two months.

Kissinger's sudden trip to Saigon from peace talks with the North Vietnamese in Paris increased already widespread speculation of an imminent breakthrough in the talks to end the Vietnam War. There has been no official announcement to back up the speculation, and the only official comment was that the talks had reached a "sensitive" stage.

But any such hopes were dashed today by the North Vietnamese delegation in Paris. It told a news conference no breakthrough had been achieved "as of today" and that the stumbling points were continued refusal of the Nixon administration to end its "aggression" and to oust President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Brilliant white search flares brightened the night skies over Tan Son Nhut airbase and dozens of armed U.S. security forces sealed off the tarmac when Kissinger stepped from his blue and white Air Force jet.

Kissinger waved to newsmen who were restricted to an area 40 feet from the plane but entered an embassy limousine without making any statement.

He was greeted by U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker; Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. Army Chief of Staff; Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, U.S. troop commander in Vietnam, and Air Force Gen. John Vogt.

Kissinger's Vietnamese counterpart, Nguyen Phu Duc, the foreign affairs adviser to President Nguyen Van Thieu, and Tran Kim Phuong, South Vietnamese ambassador to the

Kennedy Will Make Big McGovern Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., will make a coast-to-coast tour the last two weeks of the presidential campaign, trying to swing the election in favor of Sen. George S. McGovern.

McGovern campaign aides said Kennedy would concentrate on the key industrial states the Democratic candidate must carry if he is to defeat President Nixon.

Supervisors Order More Study For Portions Of Phase II Plan

By ERIK M. INGRAM

Marin County supervisors yesterday ordered portions of the controversial Phase II Report of the county's balanced transportation program restudied. (Other supervisors stories, page 18.)

The board's unanimous decision to postpone action on the report until further study came at the urging of Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste who charged it was based on "false assumptions."

The report, which has been criticized in the past by the board, proposes an intracounty transit system of 350 buses to serve 7 per cent of the county's 1990 population —predicted to increase to 285,000 persons.

The report also opposes any new freeway or a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge and calls for minimum road widening and a sophisticated ferry and bus transit system to San Francisco.

Yesterday's discussion of the report came as officials of the county's planning department sought to respond to past criticisms of the plan.

Planning Director Werner von Gundell told the board the intracounty bus system didn't propose buses run on every Marin street but rather on main thoroughfares. New development in the county would be located near those thoroughfares, he said.

He acknowledged that financing of the system was unsure but predicted funding sources

Chance Of Rain Is 10 Per Cent For Game Time

OAKLAND (AP) — A 10 per cent chance of rain is forecast for the Oakland Coliseum at World Series game time tonight, a day after heavy rain showers and hail postponed the third Series game and tangled thousands of fans in a huge traffic jam.

Walt Benkman of the National Weather Service said the same conditions that rained out the game yesterday existed today-classic conditions for thundershowers.

The scheduled game between the Oakland Athletics and the Cincinnati Reds was the first to be hosted here.

Trade Agreement By U.S., Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The United States and the Soviet Union have reached a comprehensive trade agreement, the White House announced Wednesday.

President Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, gave no immediate details of the agreement but said it included settlement of Russia's World War II lend-lease debt to the United States, on which this country had claimed $800 million.

It was reported that Moscow had agreed to pay $500 million over a 30-year period. The U.S. claim once ranged up to $11 billion.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Connally May Leave Democrats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John B. Connally Jr., former treasury secretary and Texas governor, may leave the Democratic Party permanently if Sen. George S. McGovern continues to be its leader.

Connally

Connally told a news conference yesterday that "frankly, I'm going to have to reassess my own allegiance and loyalties" if the Democratic party continues under the leadership of McGovern for "a rather long time."

Connally, chairman of Democrats for Nixon, was asked whether he would become a Republican or an independent.

"I don't know," Connally said. "I haven't thought that far." He said he had no future plans once the campaign is over except to return to his Houston law firm.

Life For Heroin

MANILA (UPI)—A military tribunal created under martial law in the Philippines sentenced a grinning Chinese narcotics manufacturer to life imprisonment today after two trial sessions lasting less than six hours.

He stood at attention while the tribunal's chairman, Brig. Gen. Jose Syjuco, convicted him of transporting, manufacturing and possessing about 35 pounds of heroin valued at more than $2 million. As a Chinese interpreter translated the sentence, Lim nodded twice and then broke into a smile.

The Philippine government earlier today said it was studying the possibility of deporting two American Roman Catholic priests facing charges of inciting to rebellion. The priests, Revs. Bruno Hicks, 43, and John Peterson, 35, are accused of using their radio station "to preach rebellion."

Troops Called Up

BELFAST (UPI) — Britain called up 1,000 part-time soldiers today to help deal with mushrooming violence by Protestants. Two civilians, a man and a woman, were shot and killed during the second successive night of fierce rioting in east Belfast.

An army spokesman said the bodies of the man and the woman were found in two different east Belfast streets during the night. He said both died of gunshot wounds.

The latest deaths occurred during a night of savage fighting between British troops and mobs armed with guns, rocks and firebombs.

Bugging Trial Date

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The trial of two former White House aides and their five alleged confederates on charges of burglarizing and bugging Democratic national headquarters has been scheduled by the U.S. District Court to begin Nov. 15.

Judge Dohn J. Sirica in announcing the date said Tuesday that he acted to comply with local court guidelines that extraordinary cases or trials that are likely to be extended should start within 60 days after indictment.

Peronists Broken Up

BUENOSBR AIRES (UPI)- About 500 police on horses, motorcycles, afoot and in small tanks dispersed followers of exiled strongman Juan D. Peron with water cannon, tear gas and truncheons last night during an unauthorized street demonstration.

Police said 139 persons were arrested outside Peron's political party headquarters as they attempted to celebrate "Loyalty Day," marking the anniversary of a 1945 revolt which led to Peron's taking power a year later.

He was ousted by the armed forces in 1956 and now lives in exile in Spain.

Fighting Ends

BEIRUT (UPI)—Fighting between troops of Yemen and Southern Yemen ended today, four days after the 13-nation Arab League said the two sides agreed to a cease-fire, the Middle East News Agency said.

In a dispatch from the Yemen capital of Sana, the agency said shooting between the two sides was last reported officially 48 hours ago. Each side accused the other yesterday of resuming hostilities.

A Southern Yemen embassy statement in Beirut said Yemeni troops resumed their attacks against Southern Yemen and said "a large-scale offensive is expected within the next 48 hours."

Normality Prevails In Korea

SEOUL (UPI)—Troops and tanks ringed major government buildings but South Korea appeared otherwise normal under martial law proclaimed by President Park Chung Hee to deal with what he called "unfavorable changes in and around the country."

Park said the people must approve his plans for constitutional and political reforms if talks with North Korea on reunification are to continue.

Park suspended the constitution, barred political activity and named Army Chief of Staff Gen. Roh-Jae Hyon to enforce the martial law edict.

There have been no reports of arrests or violence since the martial law went into effect at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Calm prevailed over the country and everything appeared normal in Seoul with the only noticeable difference the presence of soldiers, tanks and armored vehicles around major government offices and public buildings.

Under martial law, Park dissolved the national assembly and forbade political activity until new constitutional amendments to be prepared by an "Extraordinary State Council" are approved by a referendum.

(In Washington, U.S. officials suggested that Park's proclamation of martial law not only appeared unnecessary but could have some adverse results in Asia. A State Department spokesman said the United States was notified only very shortly before the announcement was made."We were not consulted about the decision and quite obviously we were not associated with it.")

Park said the amendments to the 1963 constitution he helped write would be announced by Oct. 27 and submitted to a vote of the people.

Speck Victims' Families Win Damage Suit

CHICAGO (UPI)—The families of eight student nurses slain by Richard Speck in 1966 and Mrs. Corazon Amurao Atienza, the only survivor of the massacre, were awarded $3.5 million in damages Tuesday in a civil suit against Speck.

Mrs. Atienza, who hid under a bed while eight other nurses were murdered one by one, was awarded $1.5 million in damages.

The families of the slain women were awarded $250,000 each.

"It certainly seems to us that we must prevent this monster from coming into any money in the future," said Casimer R. Wachowski, the attorney for Mrs. Atienza and the victims' families.

Santiago Put Under New Curfew

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)— The army strengthened its control over Santiago province today, enforcing a midnight-to-6 a.m. curfew to confront what President Salvador Allende describes as the threat of civil war.

Gen. Hector Bravo, commander of the Santiago military district, decreed the curfew after two days of disturbances that included rioting within blocks of the presidential palace and even a melee in the parliament. The incidents were generated by a series of crippling nationwide strikes.

Bravo warned that troops and police will fire at anyone who fails to halt for identification during the curfew.

Allende said Chileans "will live through difficult hours very soon. We are on the verge of a civil war, a great battle.

"This is the first and the hardest confrontation. Waves of problems may come. The only thing that can halt this process is the working class."

Full Employment Priority Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The AFL-CIO's chief economist told Congress today that the government's top economic priority should be "full employment" in which jobs would be available to all persons seeking work.

Nathaniel Goldfinger, research director for the labor federation, said this would mean an unemployment rate of from 2 to 2.5 per cent since many workers still would be out of jobs temporarily for various reasons at any one time.

Goldfinger, in testimony prepared for the Joint Economic Committee, thus disagreed with President Nixon's approach that inflation, not unemployment, is the biggest economic problem. Labor leaders have accused the White House of fighting inflation by increasing unemployment.

The committee is holding hearings on ways to lower the jobless rate, currently at 5.5 per cent after hanging near the 6 per cent mark for 19 months.

Goldfinger said the solution is simple: the government should take steps to create more jobs, especially for the semi-skilled and unskilled workers.

He said this could be done by increased federal spending to create jobs directly or to spend money on projects that would lead to more jobs. He said federal efforts should be selectively pinpointed toward creating more jobs.

In contrast, Goldfinger said President Nixon had depended "entirely on a simplistic push-button approach to national economic policies," with an over-dependence on overall fiscal and monetary policy to curb inflation—a policy Goldfinger said had been "much too expensive in unemployment, idle productive capacity, prolonged sluggishness and, in recent years, in huge successive budget deficits."

Tuesday, a group of economists said in a study prepared for the committee that an unemployment rate of less than 3 per cent was a "realistic" goal for the next decade. The Harvard and MIT faculty members also argued that the permanent unemployment rate can be lowered substantially "without inducing an unacceptable rate of inflation."

Oklahoman Cited For Elderly Help

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Kate Frank, 82, of Muskogee, Okla., has been presented the national Retired Teacher of the Year award.

Pat Nixon presented the award Tuesday at a White House ceremony. Miss Frank, who ended her 47-year teaching career in 1956, was cited for her activity in promoting legislation to assist the low-income elderly in Oklahoma.

Objective U.N. Napalm Bomb Study

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—A United Nations report says napalm not only burns through the skin but sometimes reaches muscles, bones and even internal organs causing injuries so severe that doctors established new categories to describe burns by the jellied gasoline.

The 52-page report released Tuesday deals with the effects of the deadly firebombs in a factual and nonpolitical manner. It does not accuse anyone of using napalm but presents all known facts about it and recommends it be banned.

Napalm has been used extensively by the United States in Indochina.

Splattered as flaming jellied gasoline upon an enemy, it causes burns beyond the conventional "third degree" used by the medical profession to define maximum injury caused by heat, the report said.

"In the process of triage (gradingof burn victims by severity) of such burns," says the report, "doctors have established the special category of fourth-degree and even fifth-degree burns."

Offer Made To Vacate Manzanita

The Marin City Learning Center has offered to vacate the Manzanita School in Marin City if the Sausalito School District will agree to repair the building and permit the private school to bid on the facility if bids are called for by the district.

On Monday the district board took no action on the proposal by the community school, started last year by parents disenchanted by the education their children were receiving in Sausalito schools.

Yesterday, the school district asked for — and was granted — a month's continuance of its Marin Superior Court suit to evict the community school from Manzanita. A hearing on the eviction action was set for Nov. 14.

The continuance was sought to give the district more time to negotiate an agreement on the school with the Marin City Community Services District. The school district wants the services district to oversee the use of Manzanita by various community groups, but no agreement has been reached to date.

The school board authorized trustees Douglas B. Martin and Jesse E. Berry to meet with the services district board at 8 p.m. Thursday to discuss the matter further.

If no agreement can be reached with the services district, the learning center is asking that the school district permit the private school to bid on the building, which has been vacant since the district closed the school last year.

The learning center occupied the school in August and began holding classes there last month on Sept. 18 the district filed suit to evict the center.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson ordered the school to vacate the premises pending a hearing on the matter, but the learning center defied that order and has continued to hold classes there, even though the school's electricity and telephone service has been disconnected.

The Sausalito School District Board also:

EMPLOYMENT — Approved establishment of a new position, bus driver-maintenance man, and hired Willie Grayson to fill the post at a salary of $577 a month.

SUBSTITUTES — Agreed to hire these five persons as substitute bus driver-maintenance men: George Graham. Willie Holtzclaw, Lavonia Rowe Jr., Fred Heintz and Moses Thrasher.

SURVEY — Learned that 18 out of 36 parents of students in grades 5-7, responding to a questionnaire sent to 150 homes, would be willing to send their children to Mill Valley Schools if the Sausalito and Mill Valley school districts establish a student exchange program at some future time.

ENROLLMENT — Learned from Lindberg that enrollment was up to 539 students by the end of September, as compared to 489 at the same time the year before.

CONFERENCE — Authorized the superintendent and trustees to attend the California School Boards Association and Association of California School Administrators annual conferences in Los Angeles Dec. 1, 2 and 3. Expense per person will be approximately $173 for the three-day session, Lindberg estimated.

Search Continues For Boggs' Party

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —Search planes today skimmed over the rugged Chilkat Mountain range south of Juneau where an emergency radio beeper signal was heard in the area where a plane vanished with House Majority leader Hale Boggs and three others aboard.

Two helicopters reported hearing the radio signals late Tuesday, and an intensive search of the area was made before nightfall without picking up the signals again. An Air Force electronically equipped plane criss-crossed the region all night without hearing any further signals. There was no indication whether the signal may have come from the missing plane.

The area where the radio beacon was heard near Juneau was overcast and there was some rain.

Search planes combed a 60-mile wide corridor along the 550-mile flight coastline path of the lost aircraft from Anchorage to Juneau. They were joined by three Coast Guard cutters cruising the coastal waters.

Flights were hampered by bad weather in much of the area, but it was clearing around Anchorage. The Air Force said planes put in 208 hours of flying in the search Tuesday and covered approximately 12,000 square miles.

A military jet took Mrs. Boggs and the three Boggs children, Thomas Hale Boggs Jr., Bethesda, Md., Mrs. Corinne Roberts, Malibu, Calif., and Mrs. Barbara Sigmund, Princeton, N.J., from Washington to Anchorage early today.

Boggs, 58, who has represented the New Orleans area in Congress for 28 years; fellow Democratic Rep. Nick Begich, Alaska's only congressman; Begich's aide, Russell Brown, and veteran bush pilot Don E. Jonz were in the Cessna 310 that disappeared during heavy rains Monday.

The Coast Guard said it was not known whether the beeps came from Boggs' plane and said all planes flying over Alaska were required by law to carry the emergency beacon sender.

The aircraft was carrying Boggs and Begich from Anchorage to the state capital of Juneau near the southern end of the glacier-dotted Alaskan panhandle when it disappeared.

Boggs and his colleagues disappeared about 800 miles south of the polar region where comedian Will Rogers and pilot Wiley Post crashed in a heavy Alaskan fog on Aug. 15, 1935.

Boggs, the No. 2 man in the House hierarchy as Democratic majority leader, was in Alaska campaigning for Begich, a freshman congressman representing the entire 49th state.

White House Denies Any Sabotage

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House today denied that any of its employes ever directed acts of political sabotage and spying against the Democratic Party or any other group.

"No one here at the White House ever directed such activities because if they had, they would no longer be at the White House because it is activity we do not condone," said Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

But Ziegler, who repeatedly referred to his statement as a "White House assertion," would not respond when newsmen asked if the denial was based on an investigation of reports carried in the Washington Post, New York Times, Time magazine and other publications.

"It is a statement of confidence," Ziegler said.

The Post, Time and The Times have all published stories recently saying Donald Segretti, a Los Angeles attorney, attempted to sabotage Democratic presidential candidates both before and after the party's national convention as part of a concerted GOP campaign.

All three publications linked Segretti to Dwight Chapin, President Nixon's appointments secretary. The Post and Time said that Chapin, a University of Southern California classmate of Segretti, was Segretti's contact man.

Chapin issued a statement earlier branding the stories as "hearsay." Ziegler said today "I am not going to expand upon what Mr. Chapin has said."

The Times reported today that Segretti made at least 28 telephone calls to the White House, Chapin's home and to the home of E. Howard Hunt, a former White House consultant, who was indicted in connection with the June 17 breakin at Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate building.

Asked if White House telephone logs included Segretti's name, Ziegler replied, "To my knowledge we do not have such a log."

Author: Alioto Was Not Honest

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Lance Brisson, testifing at a libel suit Tuesday, asserted that San Francisco's Mayor Joseph L. Alioto "was not candid with us" during preparation of a magazine article.

Brisson, 29, was the co-author with Richard Carlson of a Look Magazine article that Alioto says incorrectly linked the mayor with the Mafia.

Brisson said the mayor was "not candid with us, was not honest with us" and that "contributed greatly to my state of mind."

Alioto has sued Cowles Publishing Co., which owned the now-defunct magazine, for $12.5 million because of the story.

United States, also met the plane.

Kissinger was accompanied by William Sullivan, deputy assistant secretary for Far East Asian and Pacific Affairs, a former ambassador to Laos. Sullivan accompanied Kissinger to Paris for the Tuesday talks for the first time.

There had been unusually intense Kissinger negotiations in Paris—four days last week with Le Duc Tho, a member of the North Vietnamese ruling Politburo, and Tuesday with Xuan Thuy, the chief North Vietnamese negotiator.

Kissinger then returned to Washington after his talks with Tho to brief Nixon on the negotiations. Tho flew back to Hanoi with stops in Moscow and Peking and Thieu ordered his ambassadors to Washington and Paris to return to Saigon for consultations.

In Washington, White House news secretary Ronald Zeigler told newsmen the visits were part of a series of "regular consultations" between American and South Vietnamese officials.

Kissinger consulted with Thieu in Saigon Aug. 17 and 18. Kissinger's assistant, Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Haig arrived in Saigon Oct. 1 for four days of meetingswith Thieu and American officials.

Abrams, newly appointed Army Chief of Staff, arrived in Saigon today under orders from Nixon to review the war situation.

PHASE II

would be created in the future.

Baptiste, most outspoken critic of the plan, said yesterday 350 intracounty buses was a number arrived at without proper testing. He said the report was being used to justify limiting population to 285,000 by 1990.

"I'm convinced you decided what you wanted and then came up with the answers you wanted," he said.

He added that if most of the county's future growth occurs in one area of the county, such as Novato or San Geronimo, the report's recommendations for other areas would not be valid.

His comments came as Anne West, a member of the Transportation Committee of the City-County Planning Council of Marin, warned that without a large intracounty bus system many main streets in Marin would double in width to handle auto traffic.

Both Baptiste and Supervisor Michael Wornum questioned her prediction, noting that the 1990 population estimate is only 60,000 more people than now using the county's road network.

On Wornum's motion, the board postponed further consideration of the report until the planning department has retested sections of the plan dealing with locations of population growth and number of buses.

The report is expected to come back before the board at the same time as the proposed countywide general plan of which it is a part.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar was absent from most of yesterday's discussion on the report.

Man Arrested On Store Tip

Edward Calvin Hunt, 26, of 129 Saunders Avenue, was booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $3,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said they arrested Hunt after the Western Sport Shop in San Rafael reported he had sold two guns to the store. The weapons, along with two more guns police said Hunt tired to pawn in San Francisco, were stolen from a San Anselmo residence on Oct. 6., according to police.

Session Slated On Improving Freeway

A delegation of San Rafael city officials and a state highway engineer will discuss plans to improve Highway 101 near the Civic Center and Freitas Parkway interchanges at 12 p.m. Nov. 9 in the San Rafael Holiday Inn, the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce has announced.

Also under discussion will be improvements to the highway at Puerto Suello Hill and near Lucas Valley.

Wine Country Tours Explored

Novato Civic Foundation members last night discussed refurbishing the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad station at the east end of Grant Avenue and running excursion trains into the wine country.

No definite plan has been agreed upon, but the exploratory work is being done, said foundation president Leroy Gerner.

He said the foundation is also considering offering rewards to stop vandalism at Gerner and Pioneer Memorial parks.

Petaluma Rezoning Approved

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night approved rezoning 45 acres on Lakeville Highway for future residential development.

Asst. Planner Richard D. A. Anderson said the commission granted the request of Petaluma Properties Inc. for planned unit development zoning and asked that company representatives return Nov. 7 with an environmental impact report.

The land on Lakeville Highway bounded by Casa Grande and Frates roads would include single family homes, duplexes and apartments. Anderson said ultimate development plans include a larger amount of lane and commercial zoning at Casa Grande Road.

The Petaluma Planning Commission Also:

ZONING — Continued discussion on the new zoning ordinance to Nov. 7 when citizens at the meeting complained that copies have not been available for them to study.

HOUSES — Approved the request of Ronald Nunn to rezone 2.7 acres between Schuman Lane and West Street for six houses.

LAND USE — Recommended that agriculturally zoned land in the vicinity of Lakeville and Payran streets be rezoned to light industrial. Land from East Court to Caulfield Land would be changed from industrial to highway commercial.

SCHOOL — Approved plans by the Old Adobe School District to build and administration building in a residential zone at 849 Crinella Drive.

STORAGE — Approved plans by Robert E. Miller for a boat and trailer storage yard at 960 Lakeville Street.

$250,000 Suit Filed Against Accident Driver

An Air Force staff sergeant already charged with felony drunken driving in connection with a head-on auto collision was sued yesterday in Marin superior court for $250,000 by the other driver.

The suit filed by San Francisco attorney James D. Hammond on behalf of 20-year-old Denise Lee Saling of San Rafael claims she suffered serious head injuries, broken bones, multiple cuts and bruises and mental and nervous shock.

The special damages sought are for resulting disabilities and loss of earning power, according to the suit. Also sought is an undetermined amount for medical expenses.

Names in the suit are S/Sgt. Andrew Leonard Sarabyn, five unknown persons, an unnamed partnership and corporation.

Basis of the suit is an auto accident Sept. 22 on Highway 101 south of Novato. The suit claims Sarabyn was intoxicated and speeding when the cars collided headon.

Sarabyn is to appear for preliminary hearing Tuesday on the criminal charge.

Officers Picked By Kennel Club

Dr. Dorothy L. Morse of Corte Madera last night was elected and installed president of the Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club. The retired physician has been a member of the club since 1960.

Other officers elected included Thomas Hunt of Greenbrae, first vice president; Dr. Gery C. Grey of Greenbrae, second vice president; Lottie McWatters of Mill Valley, recording secretary; Rose Upper of Sausalito, corresponding secretary, and Frederick W. Amstutz of San Rafael, treasurer.

The club's public meetings are held at 8 p.m. the third Tuesday of each month in the Marin County Humane Society building in Ignacio.

PARIS

some flicker of hope, told newsmen, "If President Nixon responds positively to our demands there will be not only a flicker but a flood of hope."

Le said he had no information to bear out a Hanoi report printed in today's issue of the French Communist party newspaper l'Humanite that the Kissinger talks in Paris had led to some progress.

L'Humanite said, "In spite of the absence of precise information to back up this viewpoint, the possibility of seeing the war ended quite soon is gaining ground."

Le said, "I am sorry to say I have no information to this effect." He said Communist military forces shot down three planes today, bringing to 4,002 the total of destroyed U.S. warplanes.

He said one of the planes was the controversial F111 "swingwing" bombers shot down over Vinh Phu province north of Hanoi.

He said two pilots were killed and identified them as James Hockrige and Allen Upton. He did not mention their rank or home towns.

Claiming sweeping victories for the Communists Le said 300,000 troops had been lost for duty by the South Vietnamese and Americans over the past six months.

Campaign Signs Are Taken Down

The San Rafael planning department announced today it is removing political signs posted within the city in violation of the city code.

"Actually, it's not our function to unduly hamper a political candidate, so we're going to go about this on an informational level," according to Herbert G. Hotchner, planning director.

Hotchner said he had already removed about 12 illegal campaign signs and distributed copies of the city code to various campaign offices.

Hotcher said the code prohibits the posting of signs on utility poles or on any street, park or public right-of-way. The code requires that a candidate post a $100 bond and obtain permission from the city council before posting signs on public property, he said.

District Urges Watson Defeat

The Reed School District board last night urged the defeat of Proposition 14, the Watson amendment, claiming the tax measure would reduce local control of education.

Proposition 14 would establish a ceiling on local property tax rates and shift much of the burden of education costs from the cities to the state government.

According to Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello, the Reed School District could lose between $750,000 and $800,000 a year if the amendment is passed.

The board voted 4-0, with Kenneth G. Wells absent, for a resolution opposing the proposed amendment.

The board also rescheduled its next meeting for Nov. 9 at 8 p.m. in the Del Mar School, rather than Nov. 7, election day.

Agree To Waterfront Dedication

The Strawberry Recreation District board has reached an informal agreement with the developer of the Marin Cay condominiums on Richardson Bay for the dedication of a strip of land along his property's waterfront.

John P. Hagen, developer of the 58-unit project on Greenwood Cove Drive, west of the Cove Apartments, agreed to dedicate an irregularly-shaped strip of land along the edge of his parcel and all his underwater land.

The waterfront strip will include a one-acre park, as currently envisioned in the Strawberry Area Community Council's master plan for the area.

Hagen also agreed to allow the continuation of a bicycle path across his property to Harbor Cove Way.

Though he will dedicate the water and underwater lands to the public, Hagen has reserved the right to construct a 32-boat marina in the bay.

The lands will be dedicated to the public, but will be maintained and developed by Hagen.

In return the recreation board agreed not to oppose the density of Hagen's housing development when it comes before the Marin County Planning Commission Oct. 30.

CONGRESS

Both houses earlier approved quickly and sent to the White House a Social Security-Welfare bill that will force a huge increase in payroll taxes Jan. 1 for the national work force. The $5.3 billion bill would raise Social Security payments by 20 per cent and improve Medicare benefits.

The spending ceiling—the last major obstacle to adjournment of the 92nd Congress—was tied to a $15 billion increase in the temporary $450 billion limit on the national debt. Unless Congress acts by Oct. 31, the government—which is already $432 billion in debt—technically will be bankrupt, according to Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., the bill's House manager.

But the budget-cutting authority granted to the President under the bill thwarted congressional approval. A House fight over the unprecedented delegation of a constitutional prerogative of Congress was averted only because of the promise of strong Senate opposition.

The Social Security measure will raise the maximum matching employer-worker payroll tax from the present $468 to $631.80 on Jan. 1 and to $702 on Jan. 1, 1974 on income of $12,000 or more.

This will finance expanded benefits including giving widows 100 per cent of their husbands' Social Security payments rather than the present 82.5 per cent; raising from $1,680 to $2,100 the amount Social Security retirees can earn without reduced benefits; extending Medicare coverage for the first time to some disabled and creation of a uniform national minimum welfare income of $130 a month for over-65, blind or totally disabled individuals or $195 per couple.

Big Sur Area Being Seeded

BIG SUR, Calif. (UPI) — Officials took advantage of the first rainless day in more than a week Tuesday to drop seeds on muddy hills overlooking this Pacific Coast resort village in hopes of preventing more mudslides.

Massive mudslides from hills denuded by summer forest fires spilled into Big Sur over the weekend and Monday, inundating homes, resort lodges and businesses.

DISTRESS WATCH — Coast Guardsmen Daniel Estep (far end), Robert Groves and Kendall Dowd monitor ship-to-shore telegraphic units — which can both send and receive messages from vessels at sea — at the Coast Guard's new radio station in Point Reyes. The $2.5 million station was completed last week.

POINT REYES RADIO STATION COMPLETED

A ship-to-shore voice and teletype transmitter towers over the Coast Guard's new Point Reyes radio station completed last week. The station was built into the ground to lessen its visual impact on the national seashore park, according to Lt. Cmdr. Stephen P. Leane, the facility's commanding officer. The station, manned by 80 Coast Guard officers, will be used for command and control of Coast Guard vessels, to feed information on the Pacific Ocean locations of foreign ships to a central computer in Washington, D.C., and to issue weather broadcasts eight hours a day.

HOUSING — This $1.1 million housing development — still in various stages of construction — will accommodate Coast Guard personnel and families who man the Point Reyes radio station. The project includes 10 townhouses for 36 families and bachelors quarters for 42 men.

Actor Carroll Is Dead At 85

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Leo G. Carroll, British-born actor whose career stretched from the early-century stage through movies to television, died Monday after a long illness, it was reported Tuesday. He was 85.

At the time of his death, in Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital, Carroll's wife, Edith, was in the same hospital undergoing exploratory surgery.

Carroll began his career on the London stage in 1911 and later went to New York where he starred in such Broadway classics as "Angel Street" and "The Late George Appley".

On television, he endeared himself to millions as "Topper" and then as Mr. Wavery in the "Man from U.N.C.L.E." series.

Funeral services were pending.

Grant For Park Lands Is Endorsed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Marin County's application for a $357,700 federal grant for park lands has been endorsed by the state, an action that in the past has proven tantamount to final approval as well by Washington.

The county applied for the 50-50 matching grant to buy 350 acres of the Smith Ranch along Las Gallinas Creek.

The grant application was among 29 endorsed by State Parks and Recreation Director William Penn Mott Jr. They thus qualified for half of the state's apportionment this year of $12.6 million from the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund.

The other half will go to the state Wildlife Conservation Board and departments of Navigation and Ocean Development and Parks and Recreation as matching funds for recreation and conservation projects of statewide significance.

The funds come from the sale of surplus federal property, special marine fuel taxes, the sale of entrance permits at federal outdoor recreation areas and from oil revenues. Final approval is up to the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

Couple Is Not Involved In Extortion

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Authorities have dropped charges against a married couple arrested in the Johnny Carson extortion case saying they apparently wandered into the action by accident, innocently trying to get a closer look at an entertainment star.

In dropping charges, the district attorney's office also revealed that Carson himself was involved in dropping off money at a parking lot in Van Nuys Friday to meet the extortionist's demand.

No charges will be brought against Richard Culkin, 32, and his wife Linda, 21, of North Hollywood, a spokesman said. It had been determined they were following the car carrying Carson "simply because they were star-gazing...and are not involved in any extortion attempt," he said.

Police have refused to reveal details of the extortion plot, other than that it involved "an extremely large amount of money." It apparently included a threat against Carson and his family, who are still under police protection.

Pop Star Faces Aussie Ouster

CANBERRA (UPI) — Immigration Minister Alexander Forbes announced today that Australia has decided to deport British pop star Joe Cocker and six members of his group unless they leave willingly.

They were fined Tuesday on drugs charges.

Olympic Drawings Taken At Swank Club

NEW YORK (UPI)—Artist Leroy Neiman loaned 75 of his Olympic drawings to be shown at a party attended by prominent Republicans at the swank 21 Club.

During the Monday night party, two of the paintings disappeared. One was a watercolor and ink drawing of swimmer Mark Spitz, who won seven gold medals at the Olympics. The other showed heavyweight boxer Duane Bobick.

Chrysler, AMC To Hike Some Models

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp. responded swiftly to a decision of the Price Commission and announced they will increase prices on a number of their 1973 vehicles.

The commission concluded one of its most extensive investigations since it was created a little over a year ago by announcing Tuesday the two companies could raise their prices on 1973 vehicles manufactured from now on.

Earlier the commission turned down requests for price boosts filed by General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co.

In Detroit, GM and Ford said they would resubmit their requests for price hikes when third quarter earnings reports were available at the end of this month.

A Ford spokesman said his company intended to reapply for a $92 increase for 1973 models to cover safety and emission control cost increases, and apply later after the first of the year for cost recovery items. GM said it was not prepared to disclose how much of an increase it would seek.

The Price Commission order gave American Motors permission to boost the prices of its cars and trucks an average $144.28. Chrysler won an average increase of $60.10.

In Detroit, American Motors said it would raise its prices for cars and jeep four-wheel-drive vehicles an average of $38 per unit effective immediately. Chrysler said it would raise its prices an average of $20 per vehicle.

"Since we have a large order backlog, we are filling all retail orders we have received at 1972 prices," said AMC President William Luneburg. "All 1973 cars and trucks already produced, and those in dealer inventory, will be sold at 1972 prices."

Luneburg predicted a "substantial upward adjustment of all car prices later in the model year." He said he believed American Motors and its competitors would be forced to recover increases in the cost of labor and materials.

Chrysler said its increases would range from nothing on some models to $100 on Imperial le Baron two-door and four-door hardtop models.

The Price Commission ruled that the new prices could be charged only for "vehicles manufactured after Oct. 16, 1972."

Requests by both firms to reprice vehicles in inventory—those completed before Tuesday but sold after this date—were turned down.

Phone Company Starts Refunds

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Pacific Telephone Co. has started the court-ordered refunding of about $180 million to its customers.

A spokesman said the refund began last week and about a million Northern California customers have already received checks or credit on monthly bills.

The average refund will be about $12, he said.

He is a member of Boy Scout Troop 11 of Kentfield.

McGarry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. McGarry of Greenbrae, started Scouting in 1964 when he joined a Cub pack in San Francisco. In 1967 he joined a Boy Scout troop in San Francisco but in 1968 transferred to the Kentfield troop.

He is currently assistant senior patrol leader and has served as assistant patrol leader of the Panther patrol, librarian, scribe and patrol leader of the Eagle patrol.

In April, as his Eagle project, he set up a booth at the Marin Scout-a-Rama urging people to write congressmen to halt building of the peripheral canal in the eastern delta area.

Young McGarry also holds a 50-mile hike award. His hobbies are football, swimming and history.

New Chief At Presidio Due Friday

A new commander and deputy commander of the Sixth Army will be welcomed to the Presidio of San Francisco in change-of-command ceremonies at 4 p.m. Friday.

The ceremonies will be on the parade ground at Graham and Moraga streets.

Lt. Gen. Richard G. Stilwell will be installed as commanding general and Maj. Gen. James J. Gibbons will assume duties as deputy commander.

General Stilwell comes to the Sixth Army from his previous assignment as deputy chief of staff for military operations and senior American Army member of the military staff committee at the United Nations.

No Solution Seen In Belfast

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Bernadette Devlin said Tuesday Protestants and Catholics in Northern Ireland are "fighting in the wrong way" and she sees no solution to the strife in her country.

"The violence only serves to divide the working classes-they are defeating their own purposes," Miss Devlin, a member of British Parliament, said.

"Things are not getting better," she told an audience at John Carroll University. "I see no solution. I don't preach violence. I preach unity."

FRIENDLY PHEASANT VISITS NOVATO HOME

Six-year-old Michelle and 4-year-old Therese Monestier have a last visit with the colorful pheasant which they retrieved from under a bush outside their home at 1 Sharilyn Lane, Novato. The children brought the bird, which had been hanging around the neighborhood, inside so a cat or a boy with a BB gun wouldn't get it. The friendly pheasant was taken to the Marin County Humane Society by Paul Conrad, who is holding him here.

Tentative Nod To Tax Share Idea

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors tentatively agreed yesterday to share $425,000 of its gasoline tax revenue with the Golden Gate Bridge District.

Although no vote was taken, the board indicated support for the plan to share 33 per cent or $425,000 of the $1.2 million the county will receive in revenue from the new sales tax on gasoline. The board said it wanted first to consult the eight cities in Sonoma County before formally signing an agreement.

Bridge District Engineer Robert Shields urged the board to share the funds and said the district plans to ask the Metropolitan Transportation Commission for 33 per cent of Sonoma's share.

Shields said the district is currently running $4.8 million in debt and attributed $3.4 million of the losses to Marin County and $1.4 million to Sonoma.

Supervisor Robert Theiller of Sebastopol voiced the only opposition to the fund sharing, saying he didn't think commuters should be subsidized since it would only encourage more commuters to move to Sonoma County.

Donald B. Head, director of public works, supported the fund sharing and urged the board to use the remaining funds to finance a transportation element for the general plan.

In other business, the board approved the sale of $600,000 in tax anticipation notes for the Petaluma High School District to Bank of America at an interest rate of 2.9 per cent.

Only One Conviction In Courthouse Blaze

By LARRY MOWELL

One of two youths accused of setting the fire that destroyed the old San Rafael Courthouse last year has been convicted in Marin Juvenile Court, it was learned yesterday.

David Louis Hendrickson, 16, formerly of San Rafael, was found guilty in a secret court proceeding before Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Superior Court Oct. 10, but a second 16-year-old youth, reportedly the son of a probation officer for Contra Costa County, was cleared, sources said.

San Rafael police withheld the identities of both youths on orders of Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson, but Hendrickson was identified in January through other sources.

The century-old abandoned courthouse was destroyed in a spectacular early evening blaze May 25, 1971? but no one was linked to the arson until August or September.

The two boys were charged with two other acts of arson at the Albert Arcade Aug. 15, 1971 and Hendrickson was arrested Sept. 16. The other youth remained free pending disposition of the cases.

They were traced through fingerprints to the arcade fires — set by pulling curtains through mail slots and lighting them — according to police.

Both youths reportedly were convicted of setting the fires at First Federal Savings and Loan Association and Benevest finance company.

Young Hendrickson, in the California Youth Authority since February for a burglary, remained there, and the other youth received probation, sources said.

Hendrickson wrote to his mother, Barbara Teyril of Petaluma, that he expects to be kept at the youth facility an additional year because of the courthouse conviction.

Mrs. Teyril said she is considering appealing the decision.

Following the fire in the Marin landmark, arson inspectors said they found suspicious material and suspected a flammable liquid may have been poured on the floor and ignited in the old sheriff's department in the basement of the building.

The flames shot up an elevator shaft — once used as a hanging scaffold — and into the eaves of the old woodframe structure on Fourth Street.

Europe's Panda Dies In Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI)—An-An, Europe's only surviving giant panda, died Sunday, a Moscow Zoo spokesman said today. He was 15 years old.

"Death was from natural causes," said zoo director Igor P. Sosnovsky.

Agena Ends A Year In Space

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI)— One of the most intricate unmanned spacecraft ever built, the Agena, completed its first year in orbit Monday, still transmitting data 425 miles back to earth.

The satellite was designed to operate six months, but has functioned so well that contracts on some experiments aboard have been extended another six months, said Robert T. Johnson of Lockheed Missiles & Space Co.

The spacecraft has traveled more than 133 million miles on 5,233 earth orbits and provided a bonus in August when it gathered data on the eighth largest solar flare ever recorded.

80 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

Streptococcus infections lead the list of communicable diseases in Marin last week with 80 cases reported, according to Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

Also reported were 28 cases of gonorrhea, two of syphilis and one each of salmonella and infectious hepatitis.

Expense Regulations Revised In Fairfax

A frugal Fairfax School District board last night set new regulations governing expense account spending in the wake of reported fiscal abuse on the part of school officials in another district.

"There has been absolutely no abuse on the part of our board but we decided to update our expense rules anyway," according to Gwyneth R. McGee, board secretary.

She said the board decided to review expense procedures after Independent-Journal reports of spending by Tamalpais High School District employees. "Naturally when reports of Tam District expenses hit the paper, every board in the county began taking a look at expenses," she said.

The board last night changed a $30-a-day maximum travel expense to $12 a day and the "actual cost of standard hotel accommodations," she said. The board also reaffirmed its policy of using the method of transportation most economical to the district, she said.

Conferences on the part of trustees and Supt. H. Reginald Hammond cost the district $877 last fiscal year, with $900 budgeted, she said. Another $900 has been budgeted for board conferences expenses this year.

"The Fairfax board is quite frugal," Mrs. McGee said.

The Fairfax School District board also:

ENROLLMENT — Announced enrollment this week was 993 students, one less than last week.

PLANNING — Set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Nov. 15 in the district office to discuss long range planning for the district and more efficient use of school buildings.

LETTER — Received a letter from Mary Wilson of Fairfax, who expressed concern over "school commercialism" and use of staff time on school yearbooks.

TAM DISTRICT — Decided to send a district representative to the next Tamalpais High School District curriculum meeting.

REVIEW — Set a closed session for 8 p.m. Dec. 12 in the district office for annual review of the performance of Supt. Hammond.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:45 p.m. Nov. 7.

Prison Slaying Suspect Quizzed

San Quentin officials today were questioning a suspect in yesterday's fatal stabbing of inmate Frank C. Venegas, 30, of Los Angeles.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said both the victim and the suspect were Chicanos, apparently involved in a personal dispute. He said the suspect's name would not be released until the case is referred to Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales for decision on possible charges.

Inmates of the North Block cells spent the entire afternoon in the prison yard yesterday, while their cells were being searched for weapons. The only possible death weapon found was a screwdriver, Park said.

Election Booklets In Spanish

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. says November ballot pamphlets translated into Spanish are being sent to Spanish-language community organizations in California.

Brown said Tuesday that more than 40,000 copies of the 130-page booklets are being distributed to county clerks groups within the Spanish speaking communities and Spanish-language television and radio stations and newspapers.

Auditor Won

The obituary on George W. Hall Sr. in Monday's Independent-Journal erred in saying that Hall was defeated in 1958 for reelection as county assessor by one of his own aides. Bert W. Broemmel, who won the election, had been chief deputy county auditor, not a member of Hall's staff.

McGovern Attacks 'Harsh' Spending

DETROIT (UPI) —George McGovern attacked today as "harsh and inhumane" a federal spending ceiling proposed by President Nixon and rejected by the Senate with the help of McGovern's vote.

In a prepared speech for an appearance before the Economic Club of Detroit, the Democratic presidential candidate called Nixon's proposal to give him authority to cut congressional appropriations "a cynical device to draw public attention away from the pain and cost of the mismanagement our economy has suffered for four long years."

McGovern flew to Detroit after cutting off campaigning briefly Tuesday night to return to the Senate and join the majority voting to defeat the spending ceiling despite Nixon's contention that the alternative would be higher taxes in 1973.

In Washington, McGovern's campaign manager, Lawrence F. O'Brien, made public late this morning a letter by McGovern to Nixon once again challenging him to debate the campaign issues —and offering to pay for the television time.

Nixon, like other incumbent Presidents before him, has rejected McGovern's efforts to draw him into face-to-face debates, and he was likely to ignore this challenge as well as others previously.

In the text of his speech, McGovern said the spending ceiling proposed by Nixon would be "bad economic policy" that also would result in enormous "human cost."

"There could be no greater irony than for this administration to talk about a spending ceiling," the South Dakota senator said. "Two years ago, Mr. Nixon projected a $1.5 billion budget surplus. He ended that year with a $23 billion deficit.

"The next year, he said we'd have 'only' an $11 billion deficit. But the budget went into the red again by $23 billion. This year, we will have an enormous deficit of about $35 billion."

Demo Candidate Win In Dominican Straw Vote

Democratic candidates swept the board in a straw vote held at Dominican College, but only 13 per cent of the eligible students cast ballots in the week-long mock election. The vote covered candidates and issues on the Nov. 7 general election.

The poll was conducted last week by Marc Gartman of San Rafael, a junior at the college, and Matthew Murphy of Watsonville, a freshman. They could give no reason for the small turnout — only 126 of the 1,000 eligible students voted even though the mock election extended over five school days.

The results, according to Gartman and Murphy were: For the presidency, George McGovern, 66 and Richard M. Nixon, 50, with three votes for Dr. Benjamin Spock and two write-ins. For the Sixth Congressional District, Roger Boas, 56, and William S. Mailliard, 42. For the Assembly, Harry G. Moore, 43, and William T. Bagley 38, with 11 votes going for a "mystery candidate" Bill Mack Webber.

On the state measures, they favored all except Prop. 17, aimed at restoring the death penalty; Prop. 18, an anti-pornography measure, and Prop. 22, restricting farm labor boycotts.

Art Display

Oil paintings by Eleanore Gnecco of San Anselmo are on display at the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association office in San Anselmo during the month of October.

Community College Endorses Prop. 19

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—By a 4-3 vote Tuesday, the San Francisco Community College's governing board endorsed Proposition 19, which would legalize the use of marijuana.

The proposition will be voted on in the November elections.

Agencies Exempted From Fees

Marin Municipal Water District and other public agencies will be exempted from building permit fees for construction projects in Mill Valley, the city council decided last night.

By a 4-0 vote, with Mayor Jean S. Barnard absent, the council agreed to amend the city's building code to exempt all public agencies from the requirement to pay building fees.

The city's building code, which the council adopted recently, includes a provision that all public agencies and public utilities be required to submit complete building plans and pay regular building fees for all projects.

Under the revised code, the water district would still be required to file building plans while Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. would be required to submit plans and pay building fees.

The council asked the city attorney to draft an appropriate amendment to the city's building code.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

METERS — Declared a moratorium on parking meter charges from the day after Thanksgiving to the day after Christmas, while imposing a two-hour time limit on parking during that period.

METHODIST CHURCH — Continued to Nov. 6 a request from the Methodist Church of Mill Valley that the city and the Mill Valley School District contribute to the cost of improving its parking lot. Both the city and the school district used the lot during the construction of Camino Alto and the Mill Valley Middle School. The city manager and the school district staff will confer before Nov. 6.

DRINKING — Adopted an ordinance which prohibits drinking alcoholic beverages on any street, sidewalk or passageway of the city in commercially zoned areas. Drinking alcoholic beverages will also be prohibited in city parks from sunset to sunrise, unless specifically authorized by the police chief.

SIGNS — Adopted an ordinance which allows the city staff to remove illegal signs in Mill Valley without allowing the usual seven-day warning period. The ordinance, initiated by Councilman Gerald J. Hood, was directed at illegally posted real estate signs.

Annex Information Meeting Planned

An informational meeting regarding merger of Terra Linda to San Rafael has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Nov. 2 in the Terra Linda Community Center, Helen Lontz, district secretary, has announced.

San Rafael Asst. City Mgr. William J. Bielser will be present, she said. Annexation of Terra Linda to San Rafael is on the Nov. 7 ballot.

Two Arrested In Drugs Raid

San Anselmo police and state and federal narcotics officers arrested two San Anselmo residents on suspicion of a variety of drug violations and confiscated a large quantity of suspected drugs in a raid at 11 p.m. last night.

Elizabeth Madelyn Horne, 23, (also known as Betty Lynn Horne), and Vincent Theodore Nicholas, 33, both of 15 Bank Street, were booked into Marin County Jail and held without bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Both were arrested on suspicion of possession of marijuana, possession of marijuana for sale and possession of dangerous drugs.

Confiscated in the Bank Street raid, according to police, were 19 Peyote "buttons," or buds; 6.5 grams of hashish; a two-pound brick of marijuana; four marijuana plants growing in pots and 96 LSD tablets. Small quantities of loose marijuana, seeds and stems were also seized, police said.

Six San Anselmo officers, three state narcotics agents and a federal narcotics agent raided the residence armed with search warrants following a month-long investigation, according to Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani.

The drugs were found in a refrigerator, kitchen drawers, on a living room mantel and in the basement, he said.

Street value of the confiscated drugs was not known.

New Slogan For Town Chamber

Gracefully bowing to the anti-growth feeling emerging in Marin County, the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce board of directors this morning made a subtle change in its slogan.

The chamber's old slogan: "Gateway to Marin Shopping and Development."

The chamber's new slogan: "Gateway to Marin Shopping and Living."

Chamber manager Barbara Packard said the slogan change had been suggested in a phone call from an unnamed woman, and directors were presented a list of suggested new slogans at this morning's breakfast meeting.

Alternatives included "Our Business is Your Business", "Progress with a Purpose", and simply "Gateway to Marin."

Mrs. Packard said chamber members were "very amused" by the whole thing but hardly discussed it, voting unanimously to drop the "development" in favor of "living," laughing all the while.

The chamber's directors also unanimously endorsed Measure "A" on tha November ballot, establishing a county wide regional park district.

Winch Taken

An electrical winch valued at $220 was taken sometime Monday from his car parked in front of his residence at 152 Porteous Avenue, Fairfax, Thomas Rathman told police.

Fund For Portables To Be Asked

The Cotati School District board last night agreed to seek legislation for state-financed portable classrooms to ease crowding problems in the district.

Schools Supt. James H. Davidson said the board would ask State Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, to author a bill requiring the state to provide portable classrooms until new schools can be built to accommodate an influx of students.

Davidson said the board will formally make the request to Collier at a luncheon meeting Friday at 1 p.m. at the Carriage House restaurant, Rohnert Park.

The board has been unsuccessful in attempts to convince developers to pay for portable units as interim school housing.

In other business, the board set a bond election for March 6 to finance construction of a new school in the Holiday Park area. Davidson said the amount of bonds hasn't been determined. The state Department of School Finance indicated last month it would contribute $600,000 toward construction of a $1 million school.

The board also authorized Davidson to get appraisals on possible school sites in the area.

A 97-Year-Old Will Cast Vote

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI)— Cora Estle, 97, is among 200 patients at Augusta State Hospital, a mental institution, who will be voting in the presidential election. They will cast absentee ballots Oct. 31 at the hospital.

The voter drive began when patients asked why they could not vote. Since there is no law against it, Democratic and Republican groups along with University of Maine law students visited the hospital this fall to register the voters.

About 30 of the new registrants are over 65 and a few are under 20.

ROYAL PROCLAMATION

Baron Pietro De Toscano of Marilot, accompanied by a bevy of "ecology maidens", reads a proclamation, extolling the virtues of open space from the supervisors' dais at the civic center. The Baron, played by attorney Joseph A. Forest, invaded the chambers yesterday to invite all subjects to a play titled "Marilot" on Oct. 29 at 7 p.m. at the Sausalito Art Center. The play will be staged in support of Measure A (open space park district) on the November ballot. Left to right are: Supervisors Robert A. Roumiguiere and Michael Wornum, County Librarian Bruce D. Bajema (the royal magician) and ecology maidens Gloria Duncan, Marganne Clay, Emily Baptiste and Carol Staley.

Housing Plan To Voters Is Possible

Marin County Housing Authority officials told county supervisors yesterday they may seek voter approval next year for construction of about 400 units of federally-financed public housing.

Wallace K. Shepherd, executive director of the housing authority and redevelopment agency, told supervisors construction of more public housing was the only way to meet the housing needs of Marin's poor.

He said the authority's leased housing program, which leases homes from private owners and then subleases them to low-income families at a reduced rate, cannot fill the county's need.

He said there are about 250 such homes on lease but the housing market in Marin is making it difficult to find more.

"The only way to meet the need is to ask the voters to allow more public housing," he said.

Shepherd said preliminary discussion has centered on 250 to 300 public units to be built in the unincorporated areas of the county and the rest within city limits.

Voters in 1970 turned down a measure to allow 600 units by a vote of 31,656 to 28,383. In 1964, voters approved construction of 200 units of senior housing.

The three supervisors attending yesterday's workshop — Michael Wornum, Robert A. Roumiguiere and Arnold M. Baptiste — said they supported more public housing but urged more be located within city limits and close to commercial-transportation centers.

Supervisors Nix Offer To Sponsor Rock Hall

Marin County Supervisors declined an offer yesterday to join the Marin Performing Arts Guild in sponsoring a rock concert hall.

Tom Stevens, a member of the White Panther Party and a director of the arts guild, told supervisors his group would raise $25,000 to match a like amount from the county for the concert hall.

All that is needed immediately, he said, is $2,000 seed money to get the project rolling.

"There's a tremendous number of musicians in Marin County that want to play but have no place to play," he said, adding a $25,000 county investment would be more than covered by savings from welfare now paid unemployed musicians.

According to Stevens, the combined $50,000 would be used to renovate an as yet unselected building for nightly rock concerts. He said existing facilities, such as Pepperland in San Rafael, were too expensive to rent for unknown rock bands.

Chairman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said he opposed granting the funds since the amount requested was only slightly less than the $32,000 divided among all county cultural groups this year.

"I like the concept of some place for young people to go, but we don't have the money," Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste said, suggesting the group come back during June budget hearings.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

APPOINTMENTS — Appointed Arlene Blumberg of Greenbrae, an employee of the California Youth Authority; Elizabeth L.Emerson of Mill Valley, an attorney; and Charles E. Newman, juvenile officer for the Corte Madera Police Department to the county juvenile delinquency prevention commission.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Woodie H. White of Marin City from the Marin County Redevelopment Agency board. Supervisors said they would seek a replacement from the real estate profession.

U.N. DAY — Declined to act on a request from Ray Kesner, chairman of the Marin Committee to Restore American Independence Now, to proclaim Oct. 24 the United Nations Day of Shame. Oct. 24 is the anniversary of the founding of U.N.

LANDMARK — Declined to act, pending details on cost, on a request from Robert Young of Novato that the county move to acquire 40 acres of the historical Rancho Olompoli site north of Novato.

REVENUES — Requested County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel to prepare a report on the effects of A-60 zoning on county tax revenues and land values. The assessment appeals board has reduced the value of one West Marin landholding by 42 per cent.

BULKHEAD — Awarded a $32,659 contract to Parrish Inc. of Stockton for construction of a bulkhead wall along Novato Boulevard near Stafford Lake and construction of the final leg of the Novato Boulevard bicycle path.

AUTOS — Awarded a $39,015 contract to Corte Madera Chrysler Plymouth for 15 Plymouth Valiants. The firm's bid was the third lowest of eight but the only one to meet specifications.

ORDINANCE — Adopted a permanent grading and excavation ordinance which closely follows an interim ordinance regulating grading, excavating and filling which has been in effect for months.

HIGHWAYS — Approved a state highway priority list developed by state, county and city officials after rearranging some priorities. The board said it felt interchange improvements for Lucas Valley Road and Ignacio Boulevard should receive immediate state attention as well as providing access to Gnoss Field from Highway 101 once the Novato Bypass project is complete.

O'KEEFFE — Overturned planning commission denial of a request from William O'Keeffe of Tiburon to extend an existing pier 32 feet further into Paradise Cove. O'Keeffe had originally sought to use the pier for seaplane storage but was opposed by neighbors. He said yesterday it would be used for a boat.

MERRYDALE — Postponed to Oct. 31 proposed rezoning of properties along Merrydale Road from commercial to multiple family residential use.

WOLFE GRADE — At the urging of Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., requested the planning and public works departments to consider deleting the proposed Wolfe Grade extension from the proposed countywide general plan. The extension, if built, would run between Marin Catholic High School and Wolfe Grade School and would provide access to a proposed townhouse development behind the high school.

HIGHWAY 1 — Requested state highway department officials to appear before the board and outline plans for improving Highway 1 from Tamalpais Valley to Stinson Beach.

SALARY — Approved unanimously a $50-per-month salary increase for Fair Mgr. Marcelle McCoy. With the increase, she will be making $1,100 per month. She had requested $1,200 but was told to come back during June budget hearings. The board postponed action to Tuesday on her 1973 budget request.

CREEK — Requested the Army Corps of Engineers to complete its study of flood control for Novato Creek. The study was delayed last year so that local officials could study alternative methods to the Army's proposed concrete channel.

STOP — Authorized placement of a stop sign on the westbound side of the Manuel T. Freitas Parkway intersection with Montecillo Road.

BIKE PATH — Endorsed preliminary plans for a cross-county bicycle path from Terra Linda to the Point Reyes National Seashore. The board authorized $15,000 for further study and drafting of more detailed plans.

NAME CHANGE — Approved changing the name of San Pedro Road to Point San Pedro Road east of San Rafael.

Supervisors Approve Guidelines In Environmental Impact Areas

The Marin County Board of Supervisors approved guidelines and procedures yesterday for handling state required environmental impact reports on all major projects having a "nontrivial" effect on the environment. (Another supervisors story, page 1.)

The board's unanimous adoption of the guidelines came after a 3-2 vote endorsing the state Supreme Court's decision to make such reports mandatory for private as well as public construction.

Supervisors Louis H. Baar and Robert A. Roumiguiere voted against the endorsement saying the supreme court had overstepped its bounds in rendering the controversial decision. Both said, however, they felt the county guidelines had to be adopted as a result of the ruling.

Those are: Sewer connection permits, land conservation and open space contracts, use permits which do not involve new construction, road abandonments, lot line relocations which do not create additional building lots, utility encroachment permits and easements, emergency work to protect public health and safety, demolition of buildings under abatement, routine maintenance and repair work, nondiscretionary sign permits, building permits for already approved projects, renewal of permits for projects involving no new construction and rezoning which does not result in approval of specific projects.

Other projects will be reviewed by the county planning department against a 25-point checklist to determine the need for an environmental impact report.

If a report is not required, a "negative declaration" or public notice will be posted indicating the department could find no significant environmental impact.

A public hearing will then be held by the county's environmental protection committee at which time those feeling a report is needed can appear and address the committee. The committee will have the power to overrule the planning department and require an environmental report.

If no one protests, the developer is free to proceed through the normal planning process without a report.

When the planning department requires such a report, the guidelines adopted yesterday show he may appeal that decision directly to the board of supervisors.

The cost of the report, if required, will be borne by the developer.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

$2,000 Damage Done To Camper Shells

Intruders did $2,000 worth of damage to four camper shells at Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet on Paradise Drive on Monday, Corte Madera police reported today.

The extensive damage to the campers' sides and bottoms was probably caused when thieves attempted to lift one up and it fell back on the other three, said police.

Assault Case Ends With Jail

Roger Elliott Lindman, 29, of no known address has been sentenced in Marin Superior Court to six months in jail on a felony charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Judge E. Warren McGuire also placed him on probation for two years and ordered him to pay $88.95 restitution.

Lindman was arrested by Fairfax Police June 21, the day after Bruce F. Grams of Fairfax told officers two men burst into his home, beat him and took $300.

October 1972

Dear Fourth District Voter,

I don't agree with Gary Giacomini on every issue.

But then you couldn't achieve a democratic balance that way.

I endorse Gary for one very important reason. His candidacy stems from genuine concern for this county, and true moral stamina.

I know that I can get a straight answer from Gary every time. I know that even though we might disagree, there is always the chance for us both to learn something. I think that's the most you can ask from any governmental representative, and something you'll never get from his opponent.

If you have a genuine concern for this county, I urge you to vote for someone that honestly shares your concerns.

I urge you to vote for Gary Giacomini.

Thank you for your time,
JIM DOUGAN

Tourists Find U.S. In Disneyland

By JAY GOODWIN

Disneyland is about the last place one would expect three German students, traveling across the United States, to discover the "national consciousness of America."

But, likely or not, it was in Disneyland — a facsimile of America's fantasies — that Dieter Schuett, Klaus Wedde and Peter Voss think they stumbled across the true meaning of this country.

Toward the end of a cross-country jaunt, the three wheeled their Volkswagen camper into Disneyland and entered one of those wide-screened, quadrasonic, patriotic, visually overwhelming, color films about "America the Beautiful." When the lights came on, they emerged from the theater enlightened.

"In America," says Schuett, "everyone is always told that America is the number one country in the world. That everything America does is the best and that being 'number one' is the single most important thing in life."

"In our country, we are not told all this. School children don't salute the flag every morning. Our carnivals and parades don't have military men marching and guns. I can't understand why Americans do all this."

The three travelers — all in their early 20s and students at the University of Hamburg — are products of a new West Germany.

Gone is the German belligerence of the 1930s, the glorification of military power of the 1940s and the economic subservience to the United States of the 1950s.

West Germany, during the 1960s, emerged as an industrial giant, whose thriving economy is second to none in Western Europe.

Older generations in Germany may be burdened with memories of World War II, but Schuett, Wedde and Voss and the younger generation they represent, are looking to the future.

"We don't think too much about the war," said Schuett. "That time is over. We now have Chancellor Willy Brandt who fought against Hitler during World War II."

And yet, the past is not easy to forget.

"Probably 90 per cent or more of the German people know that Hitler was bad for our country and hope that it will never happen again," said Voss.

The trio saw similarities between Hitler's Germany and America's presence in Vietnam, but cited basic differences as well.

Hitler was interested in conquering land for Germany, the students pointed out, while the United States is theoretically in Vietnam to protect the freedom of the Vietnamese.

"It's not the same situation," said Voss, "but the United States is also making a bad mistake. You can't give freedom to a country if there are no people left to enjoy it."

The three students came to the United States for a summer of work and travel. Wedde worked as a clerk at United Parcel Service in New York City while Voss and Schuett worked as bus boys in two restaurants in Boston.

After saving up some hard-earned money, they met in New York and set out on a cross-country tour. They drove their Volkswagen bus through the South, Southwest and national parks of the west.

WHERE NEXT? — German students Dieter Schuett, Klaus Wedde and Peter Voss chart a new course as they make their way around America. Visiting in Mill Valley on a work-play trip to America, the three say they found the true meaning of America in, of all places, Disneyland.

Try Fish On Guests Next Time

Company meals don't necessarily have to be expensive in order to please. Camaraderie, good conversation and good food i is it takes to make any meal a success. Using fishery products is smart in a number of ways — they provide excellent nutrition and great taste, and they are easily prepared and quickly cooked — so you will have more time to be with your guests.

Be prepared to please with versatile flounder or sole fillets on the menu. These thin, firm, white fillets have long been a favorite in many American homes, and their delicate flavor makes them great eating when simply prepared or when combined with other foods. Flounder adapts easily to rolling for attractive serving, and they are protein-rich, practically boneless, and almost 100 per cent edible. Flounder and sole fillets are interchangeable and are available almost everywhere either fresh or frozen.

FLOUNDER FILLETS take on a festive air in sweet 'n' sour saucy flounder, a bright new recipe from the National Marine Fisheries Service. Elegant but easy is the best way to describe this entree because the fillets are simply rolled, butter-coated, and baked until flaky. The final gourmet touch is serving the succulent fish with a sweet-sour sauce flavored with pineapple and lemon juice.

SWEET 'N' SOUR SAUCY FLOUNDER

- 2 pounds flounder fillets, fresh or frozen
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅔ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 cup pineapple juice
- ½ cup lemon juice or cider vinegar
- 1 can (8 ounce) crushed pineapple, drained
- 1 cup thin tomato wedges
- ½ cup diced green pepper
- Pineapple slices for garnish(optional)
- Lime slices for garnish (optional)

Thaw frozen fish. Place two tablespoons butter or margarine in shallow two-quart baking dish. Place in moderate oven, 350 degrees, to melt. Arrange fish fillets, flat or rolled, in baking dish; turn to coat sides with melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle with lemon rind and half teaspoon salt. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 25 to 30 minutes or until fish flakeseasily when tested with a fork.

While fish is cooking prepare sauce. Combine sugar, cornstarch, and remaining half teaspoon salt; mix well. Add pineapple juice and lemon juice or vinegar; stir. cook ook stirring constantly until sauce is clear and thickened. Fold in drained pineapple, tomato wedges, green pepper, and remaining two tablespoons butter or margarine; heat. Serve over fish. Makes six servings.

WALDORF SANDWICHES make a good snack for club meetings, the spread combined ith cinnamon-raisin bread. They also pack into lunch boxes for a different treat for the school crowd.

Waldorf Sandwiches Next

Everyone is familiar with Waldorf salad, but whoever heard of Waldorf sandwiches?

Use the traditional ingredients, but chop them very fine, spreading the mixture on cinnamon raisin bread.

Cut in tiny shapes, these sandwiches are great to serve with afternoon tea or coffee at club meetings. Cut larger, they are a fine addition for lunch boxes packed for school or work.

WALDORF TEA SANDWICHES

- 2 cups grated apples
- ½ cup minced celery
- ⅔ cup finely chopped walnuts
- Mayonnaise
- 24 slices cinnamon-raisin bread

Combine apples, celery and walnuts with enough mayonnaise to make the mixture spreadable. Spread between slices of cinnamon-raisin bread.Trim crusts. Cut into "fingers," small squares and triangles. Makes 12 full-size sandwiches.

Delightful Salad

For a delightful mixed green salad use watercress, sliced endive and torn romaine. Add a dressing of salad oil, vinegar, salt, pepper and mustard.

Clam Tomato Juice

For a good before-dinner cocktail, mix equal amounts of clam and tomato juice. Season with lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce.

'Goblin Feast' Will Help Get 'Trick, Treaters' Home Early

Here's an idea that will help you get your young "trick or treaters" home early Halloween night. Plan a "Goblin feast" and serve easy-to-make pineapple mini-pies and hot chocolate.

The promise of their own individual pies when the evening's fun is over will help little ghosts, witches and demons from dipping too generously into "trick or treat" bags as they make the neighborhood rounds.

The pineapple pastries can be baked early Halloween Day. "Faces" can be put on each pie with a thick powdered sugar frosting tinted deep orange with food coloring and pressed through a pastry tube.

Your pineapply mini-pies, served with coffee, will be popular with the adults as well. The recipe, incidentally, won $10,000 for Mrs. Jan Petring of Redmond, Wash., in the National Pineapple Cooking Classic.

PINEAPPLE HAPPY FACES

- 1 (15 ¼ ounce) can sliced pineapple
- 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 cup shortening
- 6 tablespoons reserved pineapple syrup
- ¼ cup brown sugar (packed)
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¾ cup sifted powdered sugar
- 3 teaspoons lemon juice

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Resift flour with salt; add lemon peel. Cut in shortening as for pastry. Add reserved pineapple syrup, one tablespoon at a time, to moisten mixture. Shape into a ball.

Roll out on lightly floured board to one-eighth inch thickness. Cut into 16 circles, about one-half inch larger than a pineapple slice. Cut small holes in center of eight of the pastry circles, resembling doughnuts. Place one pineapple slice on each remaining whole pastry circle; sprinkle each with brown sugar and cinnamon.

Top each with remaining pastry circles with holes. Seal edges of pastry with fork. Arrange on ungreased cooky sheets. Bake in preheated oven about 12 minutes, until pastry is crisp and golden brown. Remove from oven and cool on wire rack. Stir together powdered sugar and lemon juice; drizzle over pastries. Makes eight mini-pies.

NOTE: To make "faces," mix a little powdered sugar to thick paste with milk or water. Tint with orange food coloring. Press through pastry tube.

PINEAPPLE HAPPY faces are a pineapple pastry that can be decorated with funny Halloween faces for trick-or-treat night. They will help bring the children back home for their own special treat with hot chocolate.

Side Dish For Chicken

Washington State russet potatoes have long been a favorite accompaniment to meat and poultry entrees. In this quickly prepared Hungarian-style dish, the thinly sliced potatoes are simmered in a small amount of water with onion and seasonings. Then the moist tender potatoes are covered with a sour cream sauce. Paprika added to the cooking liquid gently flavors the potatoes and gives them a delicate blush of color.

Serve paprika potatoes, garnished with a sprig of parsley,the next time baked chicken or a succulent roast beef is featured on your menu.

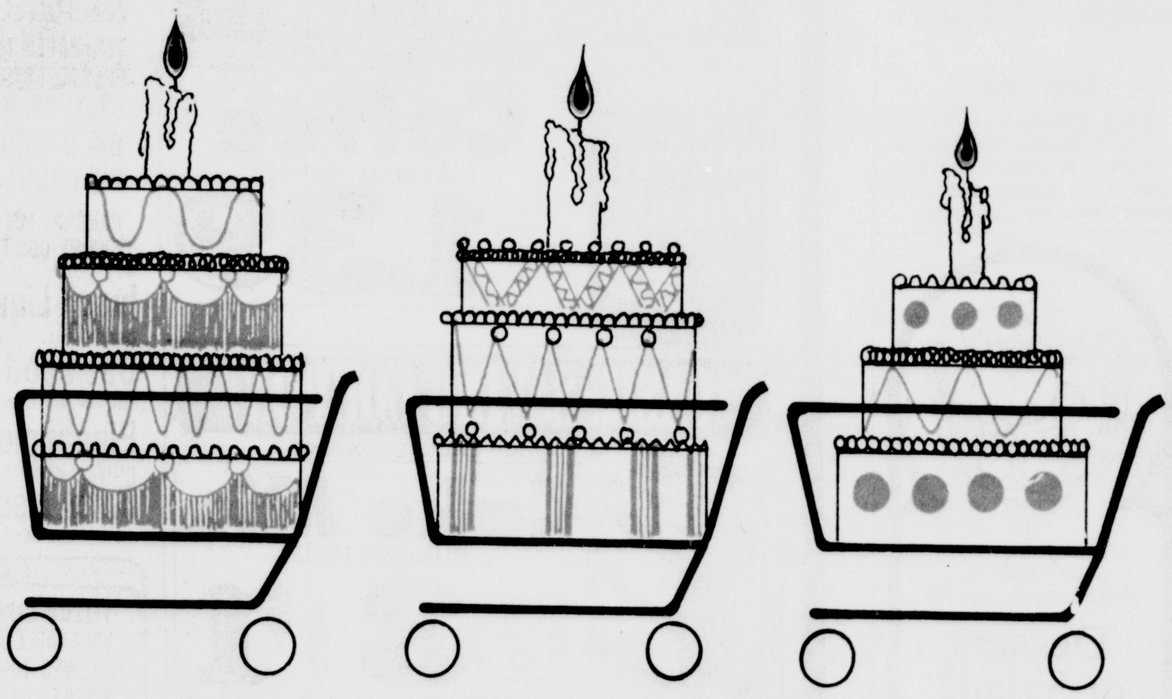

PAPRIKA POTATOES

- 4 potatoes
- 2 tbsp. butter or margarine
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoons paprika
- Water
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- Parsley, for garnish

Peel and thinly slice Russet potatoes. In shallow saucepan, melt butter or margarine. Add onion and cook until tender and golden. Add sliced potatoes and sprinkle with salt and paprika. Add water to pan until it barely shows through potatoes. Cover and simmer gently about 10 minutes or until potatoes are just tender.

Make paste of flour and one-quarter cup water. Stir into liquid in pan and cook five minutes longer. Slowly stir in sour cream and heat through but do not boil. Serve in heated casserole or serving bowl. Garnish with parsley. Makes six servings.

'PATZ HATZ'

Try Your Skills On Armenian Bread

The words "patz hatz" or "hye hatz" to an Armenian mean a thin, crisp bread baked in large, flat rounds.

Hatz means bread and patz means open. Hye is a derivation of Hyastan, meaning Armenian.

Patz hatz is one of the main items on Armenian menus, according to the women of St. John's Armenian Apostolic Church in San Francisco, who will serve it at a food festival there Oct. 28 and 29.

ARMENIAN PATZ HATZ
(open bread)

- 10 cups flour
- 2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. sugar
- ½ cup melted butter (use only clarified butter)
- 2 cups lukewarm water, approximately
- 1 package active dry yeast, dissolved
- 1 two-ft. long wooden dowel, ½ inch in diameter, used as a rolling pin

Make a depression in center of flour and gradually mix in other ingredients. Knead well to make a soft dough and then cover and let rise in a warm place for about four hours.

Divide the dough into 12 equal balls. Roll out each ball, one at a time, on a lightly floured board to an eighth-inch thickness and into a large circle. (Make sure your oven is wide enough to accommodate the diameter of the circle — if not, divide the dough into more balls.)

Take a circle of dough (only one at a time, roll around the dowel, and then unroll onto the bottom rack of a preheated 400-degree oven. Cook for about three minutes until the patz hatz starts to bubble and puff up, then turn circle over and cook for another three minutes or until the bottom is lightly browned. Take out and cool. Yields 12 rounds of patz hatz.

The bread can be stored in a container or wrapped in a clean cloth and kept for weeks. It can be eaten dry or moistened. It is especially delicious used as a dry cracker with hors d'oeuvre, or can be served as a sandwich. To serve as a sandwich, take as many rounds as needed, sprinkle lightly with warm water on both sides, stack and wrap in a clean dishcloth. Let stand for 10 to 15 minutes. Break off pieces and put any kind of filling (i.e. jam, cold meats, cheese), roll and serve.

Note: For an easy-to-make patz hatz, use a package of hot roll mix. Prepare according to package directions and add two tablespoons of melted rendered butter. Cover dough and let rise for about 1 hour in a warm place. Divide the dough into 12 balls. Roll out each ball on lightly floured board to eighth-inch thickness and to a diameter of 14 inches. Bake on bottom rack of oven according to directions above.

Cook It Frozen

Don't hesitate to cook a frozen roast in its frozen state. Its eating quality and yield will be comparable to that of a cooked fresh or thawed roast.

Small Shells

Small clam shells, set in split sticks for handles, were used as teaspoons in colonial New England when pewter and silver spoons were not available.

Simple, But Yet Classic

Sometimes the simplest desserts have enduring flavor appeal. One that children like and that often remains a favorite, is the fluffy vanilla pudding.

FLUFFY VANILLA PUDDING

- ⅓ cup sugar
- ¼ cup corn starch
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 cups milk
- 2 egg whites
- 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Mix together sugar, corn starch and salt in double boiler top. Gradually stir in milk. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Cover and cook, stirring occasionally, 20 minutes. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form when beater is raised. Gradually fold corn starch mixture into egg whites. Stir in vanilla.

Pour into 4 (5-ounce) custard cups or small molds. Chill about two hours or until firm. Unmold and serve with custard sauce. Makes four (⅔-cup) servings.

Secret To Cobblers: Use Of The Juices

It is our great good fortune that some of the best of summer's fruits and berries are preserved for us by freezing, drying and canning. When making cobblers and pies from canned fruits, it is wise to use juice as well as fruit, for some of the richness of the fruit flavor is preserved in the juice. Sweeten the juice of water packed fruit to taste. All that need be done to make the fruit base of a cobbler or the filling of a pie is to thicken the syrup appropriately with corn starch.

Don't Overwhip

When you are whipping cream to add to a cake or pastry filling, be sure not to overwhip. If the cream is overwhipped it will give the filling a curdled appearance.

Cooking Pork

Both boneless and bone-in roasts of pork should be cooked to an internal temperature of 170 degrees. Research studies show that they need not be cooked to 185 degrees as was formerly recommended.

APRICOT COBBLER

- 1 (1 pound 13-ounce) can apricots, whole or halved
- 1 tablespoon corn starch
- 2 tablespoons cold water
- 1 cup biscuit mix
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- ¼ cup plus 2 tablespoons light cream

Drain apricot juice into sauce pan. With a spoon, blend corn starch and water. Stir into apricot juice. Heat to boiling; boil and stir one minute. Taste. Add extra sugar if desired. Turn apricots into a two-quart casserole. Pour thickened juice over fruit. Mix biscuit mix and the one tablespoon sugar. Then, using a fork, mix light cream into dry ingredients until soft dough forms. Beat vigorously 20 strokes. Drop eight spoonfuls of dough onto hot apricots. Bake in a 400 degrees oven 20 minutes. Makes six to eight servings.

At last we have an outside that's as great as what's inside.

Place drained apricot halves on bed of lettuce. With reserved apricot syrup soften cream cheese — just enough to moisten — then whip till creamy and spoon over apricots. Add a sprinkle of chopped walnuts — delicious!

You'll like using Cock O' the Walk apricots. They have top national brand quality, yet they cost you pennies less. And, along with their light price, they've got a new light syrup you'll enjoy, too.

DOCTOR EXPLAINS

Adolescence Not A Funny Period

By JOAN LISETOR

Adolescence is not a very funny period of life, so he had no amusing stories with which to begin his talk, Dr. Philip Hicks explained to an audience at the College of Marin last night.

Dr. Hicks covered the area of adolescence for the fifth in the eight-part series, "SOS — Stress in Our Society," sponsored by the Marin Association for Mental Health and the College of Marin.

Adolescence covers the years between the onset of puberty and maturity, the psychiatrist said, for a girl beginning at 11 or 12 and for a boy, 12 or 13.

"ADOLESCENCE ENDS when an individual develops the ability to love fully and without reservation," he said.

It is characterized by sexual impulses and increased aggressiveness, he said, and there are attempts to undo the changes brought on by physical and mental maturity.

The most traumatic feeling an adolescent must cope with, according to the doctor, is giving up the position of being a small child and the lack of responsibility that goes with being a child.

"Many adults don't understand the loss," Dr. Hicks said, "and they don't try to understand how traumatic it is, especially in homes where childhood has been enshrined and adulthood portrayed as being dull."

These adolescents rebel because they do not wish to emulate adults, he said.

"The question the adolescent asks most is 'Who and what am I?' and 'How do others feel about me? Do they think I'm a creep, a square or a turkey.' They are filled with self doubts," Dr. Hicks said.

THESE CHILDREN turn away from their parents and are at the mercy of their peers to whom they look for support and identity, he explained.

Self-styled leaders of the youth movement so often have anti-establishment ideas and a caricatures of the adolescents themselves, Dr. Hicks said.

It is typically American that youth movements rarely have an impact or make changes, Dr. Hicks said.

"So often the leaders become members of the establishment in such a few years," he said. "Our society tends to dampen zeal, which usually ends with the first paying job."

During adolescence the child's greatest need is for contact with a friendly adult, he said. The parents of today never had a chance for adolescent rebellion because of the depression, the psychiatrist said, and so many have had to turn to their children for vicarious thrills, which has encouraged premature sexual activity and forced children into further insecurity.

Teen-agers today are generally unhappy, Dr. Hicks said, referring to them as a long-faced generation, lacking joy and needing meaningful relationships with understanding adults.

"Looking at their faces," he said, "we might learn something about ourselves."

NEW WOMEN'S GROUP

Advocates Work To Raise Status

By BETTY FROST

"Advocates for Women", a new organization dedicated to improving the economic status of women, has been operating out of a downtown San Francisco office for a little over a month.

"The purpose of Advocates for Women is to stimulate the larger economy to make use of the human resources of women. This includes establishing an economic development center, where women can get help in locating jobs, starting their own businesses, developing skills and obtaining credit," their brochure states.

Assisting in the sensitive position of director of the employment center is another woman with Marin ties, Rebecca Adams Mills, who grew up in Ross, attending Ross Grammer School, and graduating from Katharine Branson School. She went on to obtain the bachelor degree in Social Welfare from the University of California. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Adams of San Rafael.

Also from Marin is Susan Forney of Sausalito, the president and founder of Daisy Enterprises, a San Francisco placement agency, who is Marin chairman of the Bay Area Women's Business and Service Directory, which is being compiled by Advocates for Women.

ADVOCATES FOR Women was founded by Del Goetz and two women attorneys from the East Bay. A corporation was formed in December, 1971. In April operations were begun in space donated by Levi Strauss Co. Because of a change in the ownership of the building, they had to move. They are now located in the financial district in quarters acquired in September.

They received a$15,000 grant for operating a woman's employment center from a small foundation in May.

According to Del Goetz, "I don't know of any similar women's organization throughout the country which has received a grant. Foundations have not felt that this was a social problem. They are just not funding women's causes in the United States, although more thought is being given to it. Federal programs are nonexistant, except for minorities. Organizations seeking to help women have to rely on contributions from individuals, mostly women."

Since advocates for Women has been operating at its present location it has received over 150 resumes from women seeking employment, which Becky Mills says, "give a very clear picture of women's needs and desires. We are counseling women on how to present themselves for employment. Many capable women undersell themselves."

"We are dealing with overqualified and underconfident women," Ms. Goetz said. "They are easily intimidated. We help them to translate their experience in terms of employer needs."

THE ACTIVITIES of Advocates for Women are not limited to employment, Del continued. They also seek to improve unfair practices within companies, to assist women who own businesses to find wider markets for thair products, and offer management consulting. They want to publish a directory of women in business in the Bay Area, making it a springboard for a Women's Business Exposition.

An affirmative action program seeks to develop opportunities for the employment of women in fields where they have not previously been considered.

"For instance," Becky Mills said, "if a woman is qualified to be a bridge painter or a nuclear engineer, she should receive equal consideration for openings in those fields. Furthermore, we think that if women have not had the chance to gain experience in previously all-male fields, the company should come up with on-the-job training programs.

"We also favor opening career-ladders up and out of the clerical-secretarial categories. We are working not just from an employment focus, but from a sociological approach, seeking to change traditional attitudes about women's roles."

The services of volunteers are welcomed, and about 200 Bay Area women have already offered to lend a hand to the new enterprise.

"The median income for a woman who is head of a family in the United States is $4,000," Del said. "We can certainly afford free child care in this country, and the opportunity for women to become self-sustaining. So far every economic development program is geared to men."

THE ALL-INCLUSIVE approach to women's economic plight, has attracted nationwide attention. During this interview Del received a phone call from a former executive director of the Peace Corps in Chicago asking for information on how to form an Advocates for Women organization in Chicago. "We favor local autonomy for these organizations," the Mill Valley woman said, "but we are going national. A nation-wide development program for women is needed."

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Ms. Goetz was graduated from Ohio State University with majors in political science and public administration; she did graduate work at Ohio State University, Western Reserve College and the University of California Extension Division in business management, marketing, statistics and communications.

She is an economic development consultant and operates her own company, Del Goetz and Associates in San Francisco, often working from her Mill Valley home. She is expert in the economics of small business, and has used new techniques in applied economics in inner city development. She was executive director of the East Boston Community Development Corporation, responsible for a $1.5 million grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity, and was director of business and economic development for PACT, Inc., an organization which assists minority entrepreneurs in San Francisco's Fillmore district. She was from 1964-69 research director for a statewide program, an advisory service for small businesses, and assisted with industrial development, community development, urban development, and resource development for the Bank of America.

Del Goetz has a number of economic publications to her credit, and is in demand as a lecturer before business organizations, and colleges, including the College of Marin. She received the Small Business Administration Public Service Award in 1968.

DEL GOETZ — of Mill Valley, an economic development consultant, is bringing her expertise to leadership of a newly formed organization, Advocates for Women, which seeks to improve the economic status of women in the Bay Area.

Women: Turn To Other Fields

The U.S. Labor Department — noting that so-called women's fields are becoming overcrowded — suggests that women study automotive mechanics, business machine and household appliance repair. These fields, it points out, require no special physical strength and often permit flexible work schedules.

Under the pressure of equal rights and equal opportunity leglislation, women are entertng appreticeships as aircraft mechanics, draftsmen, printers and plumbers.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Sparsely Populated States Guard 'Wealth' Jealously

DEAR HELEN:

I travel a lot. It's a joy to visit other states. People there make you feel welcome. But our state (I'd better not mention the name, but residents of this beautiful, unfriendly "paradise" will know) wants only visitors — and their money — no new residents!

Lately they have been putting stickers on out-of-state cars: "Keep. . .green. Go back!!" Waitresses actually insult people from a neighboring state. Our residents single out that particular one for special dislike. People who move here from there are considered "dirty squatters" for the first 20 years and after that "newcomers."

I recently talked to a local Chamber of Commerce group, and they told me, "At least we don't have blacks, minorities, and other troublemakers. . .the police meet incoming buses and suggest they move on." Several Europeans passing through have said they got no kindnesses here.

What gets me is it's not all that good here. Business is dying. Living costs balloon. TV reception is as bad as our waste disposal system — which has polluted our river past safe levels. Mills belch smoke. Yet our people fight proposals of new industry witp the know-how to conquer air and water pollution.

I'm talking about one state, but a dozen sparsely populated states would fit my description. Why, Helen, do these people so jealously guard their "wealth" when to share it would mean greater opportunities for everyone? — ASHAMED OF MY STATE

DEAR ASHAMED:

Your question has split many a small town right down the middle — and it's churning up controversy in state legislatures these days too.

Though it's presented in terms of ecology vs. industrialization, sometimes the basic feeling is a holdover from the early settlers: "This land is mine — and don't come close, you varmint, unless you prove yourself first!" — H.

DEAR HELEN:

What is the most common hoax letter you receive in the mail? — JERRY

DEAR JERRY:

The one which goes — with variations depending on what "good guy" is presently unpopular, or what profession turns the writer off.

Dear Helen: Please help me. I have two brothers and two sisters. One brother is an Army recruiter. The other was just sentenced to death for murder. My mother died of insanity when I was three years old. My father sells narcotics and my two sisters are prostitutes.

Recently I met a girl who was released from prison after selling her illegitimate child, and stealing back the money. I want to marry her, but should I tell her about my brother, the Army recruiter? — ASHAMED

Sometimes I wonder if this question, like hopscotch, will ever go out of style.

I wonder about other idiotic things too. . .Like:

I wonder if anyone really watches the male dancers in a TV extravaganza which features leggy female hoofers? No matter how agile they are, those poor guys are only window dressing.

I wonder if some brave soul somewhere has actually written, "I want my money back," to companies that proclaim, "If our (pre-packaged, easy-cook, etc.) product isn't better, cheaper and faster than your from-scratch recipe we'll return your money. . ." (On grounds that it isn't "better"?).

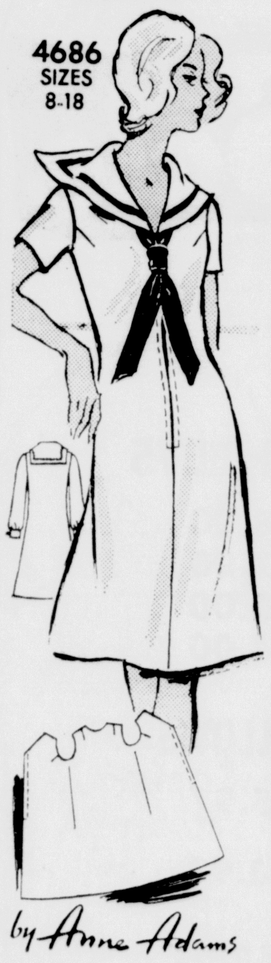

I wonder if Mark Spitz ever dated Barbie Benton (nee Klein), Hugh Hefner's girlfriend? They are near the same age, come from the same small town — Carmichael. I could find out easily, but it's much more fun to wonder.

I wonder if Mike Douglas ever beats his wife, or Howard Cosell's wife ever beats him? Or if Karen Valentine secretly hates milk?

I wonder why the other waiting-line always moves faster than the one I choose?

Shirtwaist Dresses Take Top Billing

By BRENDA W. ROTZOLL

The dresses were presented by the first of 13 of 57 houses showing this week beneath the crystal chandeliers of the Pitti Palace. Other offerings ranged from halter necks and flowing evening skirts in dark, middle-aged prints to purply miniskirts steamed with narrow bands of tent-striped fabric that managed barely to cover the bust.

Shoulders were cut wide at Caumoh, as at most houses.

The evening look was largely Hollywood, with slinky or flowing skirts and covered-up or daringly bare tops. Paola Signorini scorned the popular blouse tops with flowing sleeves in favor of a slinky white crepe evening gown with a knee-to-floor flounce and a tank top cut so low the model was more out of it than in it.

Franco Bertoli's barefoot models wore everything from floor length gowns in cotton gingham to hip-high minis with high choker collars, presumably for sport. One of his evening gowns, in a dark background print, gained a loincloth effect from a handkerchief sewn on below the waist. Two more hankies were attached to armlet just above the elbow for a false sleeve effect.

One of the wildest looks was the pirate parade at Tendresse, who did those speckledly purple miniskirts — or long skirts, or pant-skirts — and marginally covered the bosom with stretchy multi-stripe fabric on very narrow band, wound around the bodice in a variety of ways, from plain strapless top, to halter, to a criss-cross and over-the-shoulder and around-the waist combination that would take a ladies' maid to wrap you into. The outfits were worn with purple plastic platform sling-back shoes.

Ballot Measures Due Discussion

The coffee hour session will be held at 9:45 a.m. on Thursday at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

Mothers' Value Told In Survey

In a recent study, a group of 75 female lawyers, architects and physicians perceived their mothers as the parent who motivated their interest in pursuing careers as professionals.

Preliminary results of the study, conducted in the Washington, D. C., area, were reported by scientists from the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development at a meeting of the American Psychological Association.

According to the investigators, the women felt that their mothers were every bit as bright, competent and ambitious as their fathers, but were unfulfilled in their expression of these qualities.

They also felt that their parents had placed more value on their academic achievement than on moral, social and physical characteristics.

GALAXY 13 — An intricate arrangement of comma-like petal shapes in pinks and grays and blacks has a kind of cathedral window vibrancy in this work by Crescent Venuto. His one-man show at the Corte Madera Library demonstrates this and another approach to imagery.

ART REVIEW

Two Distinct Points Of View Expressed

By ADA GARFINKEL

Venuto, a former nightclub, radio, and stage entertainer, projects a natural and sure sense of rhythm in seven of his works which are filled with free-form, lyrical imagery and airiness in softly diffused, evanescent color harmonies.

Two paintings in this group with unusual combinations of color are particularly lovely: No. 19 which combines acra violet and pale gradations of green, and No. 14 in the palest of mottled Easter candy colors.

The artist who has an impressive background of art training across the country, has also evolved a distinct stylistic approach which he uses in the balance of the work in his one-man show.

It i a challenge to an artist to maximize a single unit or element; Venuto seems to have dealt with it only partly successfully. The weak point is design. Where design takes on flower forms the painting loses impact and in a quasigeometric composition, it is indecisive.

Venuto's best works in this group are those in which simple bands of petals offset planes and fields of cissonant colors that pulsate when they meet, and in those that carry bisymmetrical founta n-like forms. In the latter idiom. "Galaxy 13" — an evolving configuration of petals in pinks on grays and black — becomes like a cathedral window in its imagery and reflective vibrancy.

The exhibit may be viewed from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday. The Corte Madera Library is located at 707 Meadowsweet Drive.

Novato School Board Endorses Pool Bonds

The Novato Unified School District board last night endorsed the City of Novato's $500,000 bond issue for a swimming pool in the Nov. 7 general election, but did so reluctantly because of the lack of a definite location.

The vote was 3-2 with William Schneeflock and William T. Eckhoff against and Carolyn Crabtree and Marett Boissevain absent.

Trustee Jan Murray said she was against it because the pool was not on San Marin High School property. However, she later changed her mind and swung the vote in favor of endorsement.

Phillip Griffin, chairman of the citizens bond committee, said that without the school board's endorsement the committee would be "working on an uphill fight."

Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, told the board that the council wanted it adjacent or on the San Marin High School site.

Asst. Supt. Eugene De Brecht told the board that the district has had problems with the pool at Novato High School because it is in the center of the buildings and the noise from the pool distracts from other school activities.

Supt. James G. Bunker could not see any disadvantage to having it adjacent to the school. He said he wanted the city to operate it. (At Novato High School, the school district operates the city pool and shares expenses with the city.)

Novato Unified School District Board Also:

PROPOSITION 14 — Voted to oppose Proposition 14, the Watson Tax Initiative on the Nov. 7 ballot.

ATTENDANCE — Received a report from Bunker that 11,470 students are enrolled this year for which the district will receive credit for 11,042 in average daily attendance. This is a drop of approximately 300 students from the same period last year, he said.

LAUNDRY — Awarded a $6,170 contract to Lace House Laundry of Petaluma for the school laundry. The only other bid was Novato Laundry at $7,101.

GIFTS — Received a $1,000 gift from the Rancho Parent-Teacher Association to purchase mathematics equipment for the school, and $502.68 from Mrs. Rudolph M. Porchivina Sr. to purchase optical materials for Loma Verde School.

REPORT — Heard a report from Joseph Gargiulo, principal of the Adult Evening High School that approximately 1,000 adults are enrolled in 57 classes.

ASSOCIATIONS — Received a report that the Novato Federation of Teachers had 153 members and the Novato Teachers Association had 256 members. Appointments to the teachers council will be made at a later meeting.

EASEMENT — Approved purchasing a footpath easement from Ruben Court to Pleasant Valley School at a cost of somewhere between $5 and $20.

PERSONNEL — Hired Alan Hopkins as a part-time vocational class coordinator at $7,500 per year; Mary Jo Dreosch and Hale Darby as home teachers at $7 per hour and Carl Jordan, Dale Ann Smart, John Gage, Renee Robarge, Randy Bonkema, Robert Melone, Sally Karste, Mary Mouille, Shirley Small, Gaylord Robb, Alma Prosser and Charlotte Jacob as aides at $2.43 per hour. It denied Sara Ruby a day's pay for the day she was absent during in-district training.

DRAMA REVIEW

Play Gets Lost In Big Theater

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

"Tom Paine," is no doubt an excellent theatrical experience in an intimate setting, but in the cavernous Marin Veterans Memorial Building it was lost last night.

With less than 200 — more likely 100 persons — in the 2,000-seats, words were lost — a major key to the success of this type of entertainment.

"Tom Paine" came to Marin with excellent credentials. The name Tom O'Horgan is known throughout the theatrical world.

It was O'Horgan — "Paine's" director — who brought a new concept to the musical stage with his "Hair" and then followed up with "Jesus Christ Superstar."

Whatever "Tom Paine's" impact is — his revolutionary message of hope to the world in his "Common Sense," "The Rights of Man" and "The Age of Reason" — it was lost by poor lighting and the lost dialogue — really no fault of the cast in such a vast chamber.

With top seats at $6.50 and I'm wondering who really paid the top fare, there probably wasn't enough in the till to pay for the lighting or even a decent guarantee.

It was disappointing, for "Tom Paine" brought a new light to the theatrical world when it opened in the east in 1967 — a work of Tom Foster. O'Horgan gave it that "Hair" touch and it went on to win the New York Drama Critics Award.

But last night was a different story — New York's Cafe La Mama cast was lost.

At the end of Part I, one of the cast members strolled out, announced it was intermission, time to smoke or do your own thing — I left with a nervous stomach.

The show continues its series of Bay Area one-night stands all in giant auditoriums — like the Fresno Convention Center tonight, San Jose Civic Auditorium tomorrow night and the San Francisco Veterans Auditorium on Saturday night. Whew!

Sharing Of Park Costs Is Approved

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors has approved an agreement to share costs with Petaluma in developing Shollenberger River Park.

Under the agreement, the county will develop the first phase of the park including fencing, turf, play equipment and a picnic area in the southern corner of the park adjacent to the city boat launching ramp.

The City of Petaluma has agreed to install a larger water main to the park at an estimated cost of $17,000 and to develop an athletic complex as the second phase. Little leagues and soccer leagues are expected to share development costs with the city.

The county has alloted $34,000 for park development and has applied for a $25,000 federal grant.

Policeman Of Year Announced

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—A New Orleans police officer who saved a small boy from drowning in the Mississippi River was named policeman of the year Tuesday.

Jake Miller, a canine handler who hasn't drawn his gun once in seven years as a policeman, was presented with a bronze plaque at the 79th annual meeting of the International Association of Police Chiefs.

He was exercising Rebel in a park by the river when a raft carrying two small boys broke apart. One youngster made it to shore, but the other was swept away by the swift current.

Alerted by two small girls, Miller shed his jacket and gun and dived into the muddy river.

"I should have taken off my shoes and thisheavy police shirt, too, but there just wasn't time to reason that out," he said. "I got to the boy, broke his stranglehold on my neck and brought him ashore."

The works will include watercolors by Sister Joanne Cullimore, sculpture and paintings by Masatoyo Kispi, weaving by Ida Grae, ceramics by John Chambers and photography by Sister M. Adele Rowland.

The student art show in San Marco Gallery will be open from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The students' art will include drawings, paintings, three-dimensional works, photos, silk screen prints, ceramics and weaving.

'THE MADWOMAN' AND FRIENDS

W. H. Teed of Mill Valley clasps an empty glass in his role as the Ragpicker, while Betty Besuner of San Rafael gazes vacantly in the title role of "The Madwoman of Chaillot", College of Marin's drama department's presentation which opens at the college's fine arts theater tomorrow night. Jean Giraudoux's whimsical comedy allegorizes the struggle between the forces of good and evil — the Madwoman and her scruffy cronies trumph over the greedy entrepreneurs who want to raze Paris and pump out oil. The waiter lurking behind the Ragpicker is Mark Schwarz of Ross.

Rain Doesn't Change A's, Reds' Pitching Plans

By JOHN G. GRIFFIN
UPI Sports Editor

OAKLAND (UPI) — They'll make another effort to play the third game of the World Series tonight, with both teams sticking to their original pitching plans, but chances of yet another wet weather postponement are strong.

The game was drowned out Tuesday night when a freak, tropic-style rain squall dumped another load of heavy water on already sodden Oakland Coliseum only 16 minutes before the scheduled 5:30 p.m. start.

The game was rescheduled for the same time tonight with the same two righthanders, John "Blue Moon" Odom of the A's and Jack Billingham of the Reds, scheduled to do the hurling.

If the game is played tonight, the same tickets used yesterday will be the ones honored. Game four tickets, originally scheduled to be used today, will be used tomorrow, unless there is further postponements.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who made the decision to postpone the game Tuesday night after personally sloshing through the lakes in the outfield, warned that the weather forecast indicated "we have trouble in the area and we could have more of the same problems today."

The official Weather Bureau forecast for Tuesday night was a 60 per cent chance of more rain during the night followed by a 30 per cent chance of rain during the day Wednesday. The Bureau gave no hope of clearing until Thursday.

"I believe the condition of the field is such that we will be able to play Wednesday night unless more rain falls," said Kuhn. "If, however, more rain does fall, well, then we could be facing the same situation all over again."

Kuhn called the decision to cancel the game Tuesday "one of the easiest" he's had to make as commissioner. "The outfield was in rotten shape, totally unplayable," he said. "It would have taken three hours to get the water off there and we would not have been able to stage a proper World Series game."

Both managers, Dick Williams of the A's, who hold a 2-0 lead in the Series and need only two more wins to wrap up the world championship, and Sparky Anderson of the backs-to-the-wall Reds, professed to see the Tuesday rain out as a slight advantage for their team.

"It will give the Reds another chance to think about their situation two games behind," said Williams.

"The fact that if the Series now goes seven games the last five games will be played on consecutive days will help us," said Anderson.

While both managers stayed with their original pitching selections for the third game, Williams said another postponement would force him to make a re-evaluation.

"If there is another washout, then I will have to confer with my coaches," said Williams, whose present plan is to follow Odom with southpaw Ken Holtzman in the fourth game.

Anderson said Billingham would be his third game pitcher no matter when the game is played and Don Gullett in the fourth game.

"Since I'm two games down, I'm not thinking past the fourth game," Anderson said. "The first thing I've got to make sure of is that there is something after the fourth game."

The fourth game now is scheduled for Thursday night. The fifth, if necessary, will be

Mother Nature Defeats Finley

It's as if that woman came down and told Charles O. Finley, "It's not nice to fool Mother Nature!"

The fans had just settled themselves down in their $10 and $15 seats and the time had come for the opening ceremonies of the first-ever World Series game in Oakland. As if on cue from some evil demon, the skies above the Oakland Coliseum opened and rain came pouring down. It was 5:13 p.m. when the first light drops came down and 5:15, the exact time for opening ceremonies, when the really heavy stuff came.

First came the lightning and thunder. Then rain in thick sheets sent the fans scurrying for cover. The more courageous of the lot who held their ground were then pelted with huge hailstones the size of marbles. While the rest of the Bay Area was enjoying great weather, a black cloud hovered over the Oakland Coliseum and kept spewing out water by the bucketful.

To the north and south there was blue sky and sunshine, but directly overhead that black cloud made things miserable on the playing field.

Finally Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and the umpires went sloshing and splashing to left field, then center and finally right. They came back to home plate and made the decision to postpone the opening game until tonight. The announcement sent the fans running toward the parking lot and the press to the hospitality room where the very hospitable Mr. Finley treated the starving journalists to whole lobster. I'm going to sneak back for seconds.

For the wet and soggy fans who had to travel north on the Nimitz Freeway, the normal route back to Marin County, the worse was still to come. Three large trucks jack-knifed on the freeway and forced a complete shutdown of a good portion of the freeway for more than seven hours. The massive traffic jam was one of the worst in Bay Area history.

October is a rainy month only once every 10 years, or so it seems. It was 1962 the last time I can recall so much rain and the World Series stretched through the postponements at Candlestick Park with the Giants and Yankees trying to stay dry in the dugouts.

Before everybody got too wet I was able to collar Hall of Famer Vernon (Lefty) Gomez of Fairfax long enough to get his Series pick. The A's, said Lefty, because of their strong pitching. And if anyone knows about pitching, it has to be this former Yankee great.

NOVATO CITY COUNCILMEN really like to get into the swim when it comes to local politics. Mayor F. Wayne Sartain, George C. Quesada, Fred F. Ruegg, Dorothy P. Young and David Price Jones will be swimming 10 laps in the Novato High School pool Saturday morning at 10 o'clock to help raise money to publicize the $500,000 bond issue for a new swimming pool in Novato.

The object is to sponsor your favorite councilman with pledge money based on the number of laps completed, but I think there will be some bets floating around on whether they can huff and puff their way across the pool 10 times.

The pro bond issue people have already received contributions from Novato Aquanauts, Novato Pisceans and San Marin Homeowners Association.

Fans opened umbrellas and Cincinnati's Johnny Bench (right) ran for cover during the storm in Oakland yesterday. (UPI Telephoto)

SOGGY COURSE

Nicklaus Heads Kaiser Pro-Am

NAPA, Calif. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus, shooting for golf's first $300,000 season, is among the competitors in the $150,000 Kaiser International Golf Tournament, which sets sail over soggy fairways today with a pro-am event.

Nicklaus, who has won six tournament and $280,482 in official earnings, is returning to competition for the first time in five weeks.

The pros were trying to become acquainted with the puddle-filled North and South courses at Silverado Tuesday when they ran into the same kind of sudden storm that washed out the World Series 50 miles away.

"I was putting out on the 16th green" said Bobby Lunn, "and I thought I saw a flashbulb go off. I realized it was lightning, and I really took off for the clubhouse."

Nicklaus said that despite the long layoff he was tired.

"I just spent all day Monday walking 36 holes in the mud and rain in the course I'm building in Columbus (Ohio)," he said. "I don't know if I can get around here."

Already some $35,000 ahead of his previous all-time money mark, he admits he wouldn't mind reaching the amazing $300,000 plateau even though he doesn't expect to do it.

"I never know how I'll play after a long layoff," he said. "I might do well. I might not. But I don't expect to do well. For me, the year is over. I'll play here, the Sahara and the Disney World, and it's mostly for fun."

"If I put too much emphasis on trying to win $300,000, I might hurt my game next year."

Those participating in today's pro-am include Los Angeles Dodgers owner Walter O'Malley, Teamsters president Frank Fitzimmons, and U.S. Secretary of Labor James Hodgson.

The 72-hole event starts Thursday.

Victory For Lutz In Tennis

VANCOUVER (UPI) — Eighth-seeded Bob Lutz of Tiburon, Calif., advanced to the second round of the $50,000 Rothman's International tennis tournament Tuesday by defeating Terry Addison of Australia, 6-4, 6-2.

Lutz, the winner of the U. S. Professional championships earlier this year in Boston, was down one service break early in the first set to the 25-year-old Aussie, who now lives in Newport Beach, Calif., but he quickly broke back twice.

Lutz began making fewer mistakes in the second set and used his forehand service returns to force Addison into numerous volleying errors.

"I'm starting to play well again," said Lutz. "I've been off for the last two weeks and my game is now coming back to the way it should be.

"If I can put a few wins together, I should get my confidence back."

Lutz is currently eighth in the World Championship of Tennis (WCT) standindings with 15 points and he stands to qualify for the $50,000 eight-man championships in Rome next month.

In another first-round match at the Agrodome on the Pacific National Exhibition Grounds, Graham Stilwell of England defeated Tom Leonard of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-0. The win was only Stilwell's fourth in nine WCT events.

The fourth-seeded doubles team of Ismail El Shafei of Egypt and Brian Fairlie of New Zealand defeated Canadians Tony Bardsley and Don McCormick, 6-2, 6-3.

NOLAN NOT TALKING

Spurrier Backup Needed

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) —San Francisco 49er Coach Dick Nolan is refusing to say if he will try to hire a backup quarterback now that Steve Spurrier will be taking the place of injured starter John Brodie.

Spurrier is the only healthy quarterback on the team's 40-man roster and he is scheduled to start Sunday at Candlestick Park against the New Orleans Saints.

Brodie is sidelined with a severe ankle sprain. Second-year man Joe Reed, with no league experience and only a few scattered minutes of exhibition competition, is on the taxi squad.

Nolan said Tuesday that Brodie will be out at least two weeks, maybe longer.

"We'll need somebody behind Steve. I don't like to say that we'll activate Joe because, well, something else might happen," Nolan said Tuesday.

Spurrier says he's taking the situation calmly.

"This is the first time in three years that I've had a chance to prepare for a league starting assignment. Usually it's an emergency situation like in Buffalo this year. It will help to work all week with the receivers on a game plan designed for me, not John," Spurrier said.

A Houston TV Job For Valdez

Having spent a great deal of time answering reporters' questions, Jesse Valdez decided he'd like to ask a few instead, so he'll become a newscaster and sports commentator for a television station in Houston after he is discharged from the Air Force Nov. 3.

Valdez, a welterweight boxer from Hamilton Air Force Base who won a bronze medal in the recently-concluded Olympic Games in Munich, will attend Houston Baptist College full time.

"I'll be working part-time for Channel 2, KTRC-TV in Houston," Valdez said yesterday. "I haven't ever done it before. It'll be a big surprise for me, if not for them.

"I wanted to stay in California and I had a few offers from around the country, but my home town wanted me to come back. You've got to go with the opportunities.

"I'll take a little journalism at Houston Baptist, but I'll probably major in physical education, so I'll have something to fall back on.

"The boxing career is all over now, although I might like to do a little coaching if I have the time in between schooling and working for the station."

Valdez will enter Houston Baptist as a freshman, although he spent a year at Howard Payne College in Brownwood, Tex., on a boxing scholarship.

Odom Doesn't Like Extra Rest Between His Starts

OAKLAND (UPI) — The rain at the Oakland Coliseum had a slight effect for A's righthander John Odom who was supposed to start yesterday's third World Series game against the Cincinnati Reds.

"I was ready ... I just wanted to out and get 'em," said Odom who prefers pitching with only three or four days rest instead of the five or six he is now going to get.

"I hate to have an extra day's rest, especially since I built myself up for the game. I went over their batting order and was ready.

"But I don't think an extra day will have any effect on my control or pitching. Naturally, I'll be stronger with another day's rest."

A's manager Dick Williams says he will stick with the fireballing righthander as his third-game pitcher "even if it rains for the next three days."

"This man (Odom) does not falter under pressure," said Williams. "In successive starts on the road this season, he beat (Jim) Palmer, (Gaylord) Perry and (Mickey) Lolich and they were all pressure games.

"In fact, John has had six and seven days between starts during the season and it didn't diminish his effectiveness."

The A's manager figures the washout will put a bit more pressure on the Reds.

"Right now, we've got the advantage, two games to nothing. This will give them (Reds) another day of thinking about their situation."

Lefthanded pitcher Vida Blue, the A's relief sensation during the American League playoffs with the Detroit Tigers, also was itching for another crack at the Reds.

"Dammit," he said, and aimed a kick at the television set in the locker room when the rainout was announced.

JACKSON, BENCH

Rivals On Diamond, Friends Off Of It

OAKLAND (UPI)—Baseball still clings to that age old rule —No Fraternizing.

That means if the letters across your shirt say Oakland, you can't get too buddy-buddy with me because the ones across mine say Cincinnati and if somebody ever sees us having a beer together, Heaven forbid, why, this World Series could be thrown into greater turmoil than it already is.

This wasn't so much fraternizing, though. This was more in the nature of humanizing. This was something you don't see every day, one human being feeling for and thinking about another regardless of the different letters across their shirts.

The third game of the World Series already had been called off for some time when Reggie Jackson, Oakland's incapacitated slugger, hobbled into the Cincinnati dressing quarters on his crutches.

Reggie Jackson came into the room a little uncertainly, the way anyone does when he's venturing into unfamiliar surroundings.

Johnny Bench, the Reds' personable young superstar, was clear down at the other end of the clubhouse but he spotted Jackson near the entrance and moved quickly toward him.

"How d'ya feel?" Bench asked.

"Okay," Jackson said. "How do you guys feel?"

"Better than we did," an-

Marin Soccer Team Loses To Skyline

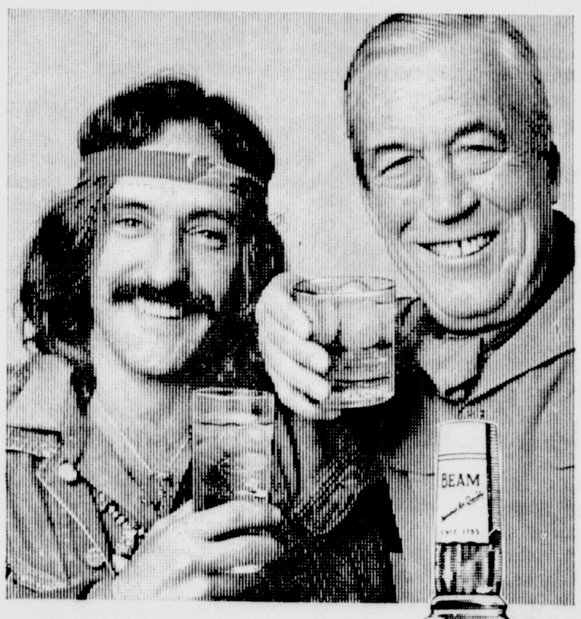

College of Marin's soccer team tried to rally from a 4-1 deficit against Skyline College of San Bruno yesterday in Kentfield but fell short by a goal.

The 4-3 defeat left the Mariners with a 1-2 win-loss record in Western Junior College Conference play. Bill Goodell scored all three of Marin's goals.

Prejudiced Writer Should Not Vote

When Denton True (Cy) Young died at the age of 88 in 1955, the Baseball Writers Association of America (BBWAA) memorialized his name in an award that is voted annually to the best pitcher in the National and American Leagues.

Young pitched in both leagues for 22 years from 1890 to 1911. He won 509 games, a record. He lost 316 games, also a record. He started (816) and completed (750) more games than any other pitcher in the history of baseball.

PITCHERS COVET the Cy Young Award. The committee that picks the winner is appointed by the president of the BBWAA. The committee is composed of two members from each chapter of the BBWAA.

One of the two members appointed this year from the New York chapter is Joe Donnelly of Newsday, a Long Island newspaper. Following his appointment, Donnelly wrote in his paper that he already had decided to scratch Gaylord Perry from the list of 1972 award candidates in the American League because he didn't think Perry compiled his qualifying credentials legally.

"From the area of Perry's statistics (24-16 and a 1.92 ERA) there is little doubt in my mind Perry should be a clear-cut winner," wrote Donnelly.

"MY OBJECTION to Perry is that he throws an illegal pitch. It's not a trick pitch, like Wilbur Wood's knuckleball, but an illegal pitch. Perry applies a foreign substance to the ball, not on every pitch but in any difficult situation where winning or losing is on the line."

If a judge in a court of law made such a prejudicial pretrial statement he would, of course, be disqualified. Whether the president of the BBWAA disqualifies Donnelly remains to be seen. Knowing his state of mind, Donnelly should have disqualified himself at the time of his appointment.

PERRY LONG HAS been suspected of throwing a doctored super-sinker. Before the Giants traded him to Cleveland last winter for Sam McDowell, Perry was subjected to repeated searches by National League umpires. This year he similarly was searched by American League umpires.

One search by a National League umpire (Chris Pelekoudas) did uncover a patch of lubricant on the inside of Perry's left wrist. That was a couple of years ago in the Astrodome.

No umpire, however, ever has caught Perry with conclusive proof — grease on the ball. Some umpires say that isn't necessary as far as they are concerned. They insist they can tell by the dropping action of Perry's supersinker whether the ball has been doctored. Other umpires refuse to go that far.

IN OTHER WORDS, Perry never has been found officially guilty of throwing an illegal pitch.

Yet, Donnelly now has set himself up as judge and jury in the case and pronounced sentence on Perry — disqualification from the list of this year's Cy Young Award candidates in the American League.

Rain Slows High School Footballers

The rain which pelted the playing fields of Marin last weekend made the Marin County Athletic League football statistics soggy, as the six teams which played averaged only 114 yards total offense each.

Steve D'Ambra of San Rafael High School retained his lead in rushing and raised his total yardage to 224, but Mark Magers of Novato vaulted from 10th place to second with a 107-yard effort against Drake.

Tom MacAusland of Drake passed for only 87 yards but retained the leadership in attempts, completions, yardage and touchdowns, as the statistics of his chief rivals also shrank due to wetness.

Dennis Morini of Tamalpais, who was idle, kept his commanding lead in receptions, and Craig Saunders of San Rafael added a touchdown to stay ahead of his pursuers in the scoring race.

Undefeated Novato took over the lead in total defense. The Hornets held Drake to minus 34 yards rushing and are now yielding only 35.5 yards a game on the ground and 94.0 over-all. Terra Linda has the best defense against the pass, a paltry 29.0 yards.

SERIES

played as a day game here Friday, which originally was scheduled as an off day for travel. The switch to daytime would be to allow the teams time to travel to Cincinnati Friday night and play the sixth game Saturday afternoon as originally scheduled there. A seventh game would be played in Cincinnati Sunday.

"If there is another postponement, then we would have to consider other schedules," Kuhn said. "If we do not play tonight, then I believe we would play the third, fourth, and fifth Thursday night, Friday night and Saturday afternoon here, the sixth and seventh in Cincinnati Sunday and Monday."

Both teams had been on the field in uniform and a symphony orchestra in center field was just tuning up to play the national anthem when the rain struck.

Typical of the players' feelings were those of hustling Matty Alou of the A's and Pete Rose of the Reds.

"I just hate to sit around and do nothing," said Alou.

"I didn't come to Oakland to sit around a hotel," said Rose.

Rose echoed the feeling of many observers when he said, "If anything, the rainout would hurt the A's more than us. They're the ones who won the first two games and have the momentum going."

Though disappointed at the delay, Rose said, "Kuhn did the right thing. But I'll tell you—I don't think the outfield will be any better tonight. And if we get rained out tonight, we will have gone three straight days without batting practice."

Odom said the delay "would make me a little stronger with an extra day's rest." Billingham said he was disappointed at not pitching after being mentally "up" for the biggest game of his career, "but it will be the same game tonight."

Williams said the rain settled one thing—Vida Blue now definitely will remain in the bullpen and not start any Series game.

"I've discussed that with Vida and he's happy about it," Williams said. The A's remain 7-5 favorites to win the third game. No team ever has won the first three games of the Series and failed to win the world championship.

Cage Streak Broken—Again

Marin Catholic High School's long winning streak in Class C basketball died hard, finally expiring late yesterday afternoon as Scott Cratty and Pete Butterworth scored 16 points apiece to lead San Rafael to a 48-41 victory over the Wildcats.

Marin Catholic was defeated last Tuesday by Drake, 40-39, apparently ending the streak at 28, but the Pirates later forfeited the game due to having an ineligible player, according to Marin County Athletic League commissioner George Corson. The Wildcats' victory Friday over Redwood extended the streak to 30.

In the other MCAL "C" game yesterday, Drake defeated Marin Catholic, 37-32.

NOT OUT TO 'GET' SIXKILLER

'Chris' Denies Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Coach Jack Christiansen says Stanford was not out to "get" Washington quarterback Sonny Sixkiller in the Cards' 24-0 blanking of the previously unbeaten Huskies last Saturday.

Sixkiller reinjured an ankle in the first quarter Saturday and a few plays later suffered a knee injury that will keep him out of this week's crucial game a USC.

He claimed later that "I felt one of the Stanford players going for my knee on the play I was hurt."

Christiansen vehemently denied this Tuesday before the Northern California Football Writers.

"Roger Stillwell went directly over the top of their offensive tackle, who was on the ground, and hit Sixkiller just as he threw. It was a great play, and I hope Stillwell continues to play that way.

"I think the comments were unfounded and unnecessary."

On the play which Sixkiller's ankle was injured, Dennis Bragonier, roaring in on a safety blitz, was lost, possibly for the season. He was operated on Sunday for bone chips on the elbow.

"We lost the better football player on that play," said Christiansen.

Two Stanford standouts, quarterback Mike Boryla and defensive back James Ferguson were honored for their performance in that game. Boryla, who hit 24 of 44 for 293 yards, was named top offensive player and Ferguson, who had a fumble recovery and two interceptions, was named defensive standout by the writers.

Cal Coach Mike White said "we played reasonably well" in the 42-14 loss to top-rated USC, but said "we need a victory. When you're starting a program you need a win to solidify it."

The problem is that Cal, which probably has the nation's toughest schedule, has to host UCLA Saturday and the Bruins are 5-1 for the season.

The Bruins were 2-7-1 last year and UCLA publicist Vic Kelly credited the "turnaround" to "the installation of the Wishbone, and the return of some players we knew were good like (James) McAlister and (Kermit) Johnson."

San Marin Water Polo Victory

Jim Harrinton scored on a penalty shot in overtime as San Marin High School pulled out a 11-10 victory over Tamalpais yesterday in a Marin County Athletic League water polo game in Mill Valley.

In other games yesterday, Terra Linda and San Rafael warmed up for their upcoming crucial encounter with victories, the undefeated Trojans beating Novato, 15-5, while the once-beaten Bulldogs topped Drake, 9-5. Redwood drew a bye. Terra Linda visits San Rafael Friday at 3:45 p.m.

Paul Hefla scored five goals for the Mustangs as San Marin evened its record at 3-3. Paul Moe, Dick Atwood and Steve Bitwood scored three each for Tam.

Terra Linda triumphed as Keith Strange and Todd Gulick combined for 11 goals, scoring six and five respectively. Host Novato's record is now 1-5.

Standings

Terra Linda 6-0, San Rafael 5-1, Redwood 4-2, San Marin 3-3, Tamalpais 2-4, Novato 1-5, Drake 0-6.

NBA ROUNDUP

Portland Tops Milwaukee

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The Portland Trail Blazers were the worst defensive team in the National Basketball Association last season and they still can't handle Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, but you can't get the rest of the Milwaukee Bucks to shed any tears over the west coast club.

Portland edged Milwaukee, 111-108, Tuesday night, despite Abdul-Jabbar's 49 points, leaving the Boston Celtics as the only unbeaten team in the NBA. The Blazers blew a 20-point lead and had to rally behind Sidney Wicks' clutch shooting to beat the Bucks. Wicks hit on two long jumpers to give Portland the lead for good with 1:18 left and then sank two foul shots with six seconds left to provide the Portland cushion.

Wicks, last season's Rookie of the Year, led Portland with 33 points, but it was this season's rookie find, Ollie Johnson, who kept the Blazers in the game with 20 points, including baskets on his last eight floor shots.

Boston won its fourth straight by defeating Atlanta 119-115, New York downed Houston 103-95 and Buffalo stopped Philadelphia 122-114 in other league action.

John Havlicek broke a 113-all tie with a jumper and added two free throws to boost Boston past Atlanta. Center Dave Cowens, who blocked Pete Maravich's potential tying basket on a drive in the final seconds, tallied a game-high 29 points for the Celts. Havlicek and Jo Jo White each netted 25 points. Lou Hudson tallied 27 for the Hawks. Atlanta Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons was ejected after two technical fouls were called against him.

Jerry Lucas scored 22 points and Walt Frazier added 19 as New York deposed Houston from the unbeaten ranks. The Rockets, with Jimmy Walker and Jack Marin each scoring 21 points, came close to a successful comeback after trailing by 28 points early in the third quarter.

Buffalo's 42-point third quarter was too much for Philadelphia as the winless 76ers lost their fourth straight game. Bob Kauffman contributed 24 points to the Braves' attack, while John Block led Philadelphia with 27.

San Marin Booters Win, 3-2

San Marin High School, getting two goals from Ed Jones and another from Andy Justianiano, continued to surprise Marin County Athletic League soccer pundits yesterday by edging San Rafael, 3-2, on the losers' field.

Standings

San Marin 5-1-1, Terra Linda 5-2, Redwood 4-2-1, San Rafael 4-3, Drake 3-3-1, Novato 3-3-1, Tamalpais 1-5-1, Marin Catholic 0-6-1.

A's Jackson Takes Reds' Bench To Eat

swered Bench. "We've been down before and came back. We can come back now."

"You got some place to eat? You got a ride from here?" the A's' outfielder asked the Reds' catcher.

Johnny Bench said he had a ride but wasn't sure yet where he was going to eat.

Bench, in his underwear and shower slippers, headed for the shower and Jackson prepared to return to his own clubhouse. Before he could though, a newsman stopped him and asked him how long he knew Bench, when did he first meet him?

"I don't know," said Jackson, thinking. "I just know him from All-Star games and things like that, but I feel like I've known him forever. It's hard to explain this. I've read about him, he probably read about me, and we've shared a lot of experience even though we've never played for the same team.

"We just kinda hit it off pretty good together from the first time we met, but I don't know when that was.

"Remember the first day we came into Cincinnati to work out? Last Friday I think it was. It rained, and we never got a chance to work out. "Before we left the ball park, Johnny came up to me and said, 'What are you doing tonight?' I said nothing. I'm hungry. He said 'Would you like to go out to dinner tonight?' I said, sure.

"Maybe Johnny felt sorry for me, I dunno," said Jackson, looking down at his crutches, "but he took me to this Italian place, we had a little bottle of wine, and we must have sat there and taiked for five hours. That's right, just the two of us.

"I like him. He's a good person. He cares about others. That's why I came in here to see him now. I'd like to take him to dinner tonight."

Reggie Jackson paused a moment.

"It would've been fun to have played in this thing together," he said. "It would've been nice to have come up to the plate and say to him, did you see how far I hit that one? He would've come back and said to me, 'hey, big man, did you see that last one I hit, check that one out!'"

Jackson turned to go.

"See you later, bleep!"

Jackson, pretending to be stung by the obscenity, turned back and began insulting Perez in perfect Spanish. Perez reeled off some delightful Spanish words of his own.

Reggie Jackson laughed.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Some Bonds For Safety And Income

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. — I am 85 and own 300 shares of General Motors which I would like to exchange for good bonds for greater income. You described a portfolio of bonds in your column recently but I have two questions on these. How do you know if these companies will be in existence in 30 years? Can bonds be cashed anytime in an emergency? — A.F.

A. Bonds, like stocks, may be bought and sold at any time, although the selling price may be more or less than your original purchase price. For instance a bond carrying an 8 per cent interest rate will usually rise above its $1,000 face value if interest rates on new bonds move down say to 7 per cent. The reverse also holds when interest rates in general rise above 8 per cent, the bond will trade below par reflecting this disadvantage. A 1 per cent rise in borrowing rates will produce a drop in the bond's trading price of about $100. However, the price is also affected by the bond's quality rating and the number of years to maturity.

There is, of course, no positive means of determining the future of a corporation. Quality ratings, published by Standard & Poor's and Moody's, do provide a guide for potential investors. These ratings are based on the credit worthiness of a company, its earnings' trend and balance sheet.

By confining your purchases to bonds rated in the top four categories you will reduce risk to a minimum. Incidentally, commercial bank portfolios are limited to these four classes.

The two bonds which I have selected for you have rather diverse features. One is an A-rated short-term bond trading at a premium, the other a BBB-rated long term selling at a discount. Abex Corp. 8¾s of 1977, rated A, provides an 8.4 per cent current yield. Marcor 6½s of 1988 returns 7.5 per cent currently but offers a $140 capital gain potential if held to maturity.

One Hospital Is Cutting Rates

Hospital Corp. of America, which owns Ross General Hospital and 46 others across the country, announced this week that one of its Florida hospitals is reducing its room rates.

The unusual news comes from North Shore Hospital, a private foundation, 270-bed facility in Miami, managed by Hospital Corporation of America. The reduction cuts some room rates as much as $11 per day and reduces room and board costs to patients by about 10 per cent.

Dr. Fred Gunion, president of North Shore Board of Trustees, said the reductions resulted from greater economies and improved services achieved under HCA management.

So Big Sandwich Shop Being Planned In Hamilton Park

A new restaurant called So Big Sandwich Shop is planned at 66 Hamilton Drive in Hamilton Industrial Park at Ignacio.

Proprietor will be Mrs. Robert E. Conway of Novato, a nurse who retired this year after five years of nursing at Marin General Hospital. She hopes to open the sandwich shop in about six weeks. It will be located in a building which she and her husband, a plumbing contractor, completed last summer on Hamilton Drive. Conway has his own office in the same building.

KINNEY SHOES will open its second Marin County store at Northgate Mall in Terra Linda about mid-November. The existing Kinney Shoe store at 2100 Fourth Street on the Miracle Mile in San Rafael will remain.

David Sueshting, Kinney Shoes' district manager in San Jose, said this will be the 36th store in the Bay Area. Kinney Shoes carries medium-priced shoes for the whole family.

Varano Edwards

Varano joined the Santa Rosa office in 1964 and was the assistant manager when that branch was merged into California Canadian Bank's statewide system in 1971. He lives in Santa Rosa but is looking for a home in the San Rafael area.

California Canadian Bank, serving California since 1864, has 20 offices in the state.

DAVID S. EDWARDS of San Rafael, vice president and controller of both BanCal Tri-State Corporation and its major subsidiary, Bank of California, has been promoted to senior vice president.

Edwards joined the Bank in Los Angeles in 1965 as division controller and was promoted in 1967 to vice president in charge of operations for the Southern California Division. In 1970, he was transferred to San Francisco to head a special task force for the bank, became vice president and assistant director of the information services division, and then controller in 1971.

Lee Peltz

WESTERN CALIFORNIA Telephone Co. will hold open house at its plant center at 911 Diablo Avenue in Novato tomorrow from 6 to 9 p.m.

District Manager Gordon Lee said the public is invited to the plant to see how the telephone equipment operates.

ROBERT PELTZ of San Rafael has been promoted to vice president of Crocker Bank's Montgomery-Sacramento branch in San Francisco.

A 10-year veteran with Crocker Bank, Peltz was assistant manager of the bank's Montgomery-Sacramento office from 1963 to 1967, then transferred to the Golden Gateway-Jackson Square branch as assistant vice president and manager.

CLAUDIA ATTELL, who recently moved from Greenbrae to Daly City, has won her real estate license. She formerly operated Attell's Furniture Co. in Sausalito for about 10 years. Mrs. Attell has three sons in Marin — Coleman Attell of United California Bank in San Francisco, R. Peter Attell of Frank Howard Allen in Greenbrae and Mervyn Attell of Gallagher-Sturiale Realtors in San Anselmo.

DEAK INVESTMENT Corp., a subsidiary of Deak and Co. of California, will open a new office Friday in Sausalito at 2330 Bridgeway, in space formerly occupied by North Bay School.

Deak Investment, a real estate developer and promoter, will be headed by Nathan Jones of Tiburon, executive vice president.

PHOTOGRAPHS by Rita Graves of San Rafael are on display at the Redwood Bank in San Rafael. The exhibit, featuring portraits of adults, children and animals, will be on view throughout the month of October.

RICHARD BINGHAM

Instructor Critical Of His Student

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The pilot of the F86 jet which crashed into a crowded Sacramento ice cream parlor last month "was a junior birdman trying to do a professional's job," says the man who gave him instructions on flying the jet fighter.

"If I'd have had the say of who flew the airplane, I wouldn't have let this gentleman near the plane," flight instructor Joseph Patrick told a National Transportation Safety Board accident inquiry panel yesterday. "But I didn't have the say and there was no ragulation to prevent him from flying it."

Patrick said that Richard L. Bingham, general manager of Spectrum Air Inc. of Novato, refused extra training and then fired him from Spectrum Air after completing the training.

However, the Federal Aviation Administration examiner who issued Bingham a certificate to fly the restored Korean War-vintage fighter last June told the board he had no doubt about Bingham's qualifications to fly the fighter.

The examiner, Thoville Smith, said Patrick was present when he certified Bingham to fly the jet but that Patrick never said anything casting doubt on Bingham's qualifications until after the Sept. 24 crash in which 22 persons died.

Smith was sharply questioned by inquiry officers about why he certified Bingham to fly the jet after just one 40-minute flight. Smith said that when he learned to fly the F86 himself in the Air Force new pilots received "a pat on the head" and were sent up to fly.

"In this case, Mr. Patrick patted him on the head and I handed him the letter of certification," Smith said.

Smith said Bingham had a good instruction in the F86, a good cockpit checkout in the certification flight, "a background that I considered solid... and a non-nonsense approach" to flying the jet.

"I could find no particular problem in signing that piece of paper," Smith added.

But Patrick described Bingham as "a very impatient type — 'Let's go and get the job done and give me just the bare minimum to satisfy the FAA' — and that was it," he said.

Questioned by newsmen, Patrick said he had looked at films of the fatal takeoff attempt and that the accident could have been prevented if Bingham had aborted the takeoff after the first of two attempts to get the plane airborne.

"If he had just quit after the first one, he'd have had it made. But here you have a junior birdman trying to do a professional's job, and it can't be done — there's no substitute for experience," he said.

Earlier in the second day of the public inquiry, Bingham was brought to the hearing room in a wheelchair with his right arm and leg still in casts and dramatically described the takeoff which ended with the fiery crash into the ice cream parlor at the end of the runway.

Bingham said the takeoff was normal until he heard and felt a vibration just as he lifted off the ground and that he sensed a lack of normal acceleration at about the same time.

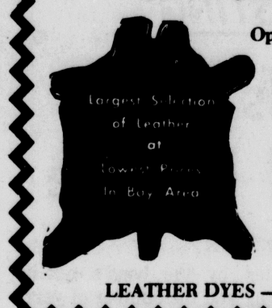

He said he lowered the nose of the plane to increase acceleration and that the vibration seemed to lessen, but that he was startled when the plane touched back down on the runway at that point.

"I touched the ground. It was a surprise to me. I know I considered aborting in that second, but I still thought the aircraft would fly."

But he said the moment the plane lifted off a second time he knew he was in trouble and could not make it.

"I touched back down. I decided to abort the takeoff. Then I hit something."

$1 Billion Plan To Curb Air Pollution

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A California Institute of Technology study, declaring there are no "magic solutions" to smog, has recommended far-reaching measures costing $1 billion to curb air pollution in much of Southern California.

The suggested steps included an emissions tax on smog-producing cars, an "export bounty" to encourage removal from the area of older cars which emit more pollutants than newer ones and, as a last resort, gasoline rationing.

In a 167-page study released here Tuesday, the Environmental Quality Laboratory (EQL) at the Pasadena college said present techniques for controlling smog from cars and industry are not adequate to meet federal or state standards which take effect by 1975 or 1977.

The laboratory's recommendations were designed to reduce the number of cars on freeways, encourage the use of carpools and to halt or at least reduce the annual rate of increase in gasoline consumption in the basin.

The group's study dealt with the South Coast Air Basin which includes all of Orange and Ventura counties, nearly all of Los Angeles County and parts of San Bernardino, Riverside and Santa Barbara counties.

The EQL estimated its recommendations would "reduce the number of substandard, smoggy days 80 per cent by 1975 and 90 per cent by 1977." The laboratory also predicted a 20 per cent reduction in vehicle miles driven in the basin.

The study's recommendations included:

The emissions tax, deescribed as a payment for the "privilege" of driving a smogproducing car.

An "export bounty" to encourage car owners to sell their older vehicles outside of the South Coast basin.

Smog alerts called at levels lower than present first stage alerts which would ban all but low-emission, high occupancy vehicles from freeways.

Proposition 17 Is Wrong Answer

Last Feb. 18, the California Supreme Court ruled that the death penalty was unconstitutional under the California constitution.

It did this despite the fact that Section 6 of Article I of the California Constitution says: "All persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, unless for capital offenses when the proof is evident or the presumption great." It did it despite the fact that Section 13 of the same article says: "No person shall . . . be deprived of life . . . without due process of law."

These sections, said the court in a 6-to-1 decision, are meaningless because the same section of the constitution forbids "cruel or unusual punishments." The death penalty, said the justices, is such a punishment and therefore unconstitutional.

THERE WAS immediate outcry. Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger led a campaign to qualify for the ballot an initiative measure restoring the death penalty.

This appears as Proposition 17 on the Nov. 7 ballot. It would declare the death penalty operative wherever provided in the statutes, and would specify: "The death penalty provided for under these statutes shall not be deemed to be, or to constitute, the infliction of cruel or unusual punishments within the meaning of Article I."

The California Supreme Court opened this can of worms by ignoring the constitution's provisions for the death penalty in order to contend that it is "cruel or unusual punishment." This was legislation by court decision. It made a mockery of the constitution itself.

BUT THAT DOES not mean that the people of California should restore the death penalty by passing Proposition 17.

We do not believe the death penalty is justifiable. Its imposition is capricious. Even worse, with the delays provided by the law, it becomes a matter of years of torture for those awaiting execution. And records of places with and without the death penalty do not bear out that it is a deterrent to crime.

Nevertheless, the California Supreme Court had no business outlawing this penalty, which is provided for in the constitution and statutes. It substituted its own judgment for the constitution it is sworn to uphold. This was unconscionable.

IT WOULD have made some sense to put on the ballot a recall of the six justices who thus rewrote the law to suit themselves.

It would have made a great deal of sense to put on the ballot two propositions — one like Proposition 17 and another striking from the constitution and statutes all provisions for the death penalty.

We would then go along with the second proposition.

Two wrongs do not make a right. The California Supreme Court was wrong in usurping the powers of the legislature and people by "interpreting" the constitution to mean the opposite of what it says. But we believe the people would be wrong in writing the death penalty still more specifically into the constitution to show their anger at this judicial outrage.

We recommend a "no" vote on Proposition 17 — and a measure at the next election to eliminate the death penalty in the proper way.

Governor's Tax Reform Just One More Edsel

By RUS WALTON

Gov. Ronald Reagan has decided to come out full blast against the Watson amendment.

You have to admire his guts. He kicked off his anti-Proposition 14 campaign at the California Real Estate Association convention. That's walking right into the lion's den: next to homeowners, the realtors are Watson's biggest boosters.

The day before he spoke to the realtors the governor unwrapped his own tax reform vehicle. Another one, that is. Sort of a modified model of that $1 billion Edsel he and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti tried to drive through the legislature earlier this year. That one never got out of the garage.

THE GOVERNOR denied his new tax proposal was born out of a desire to defeat Proposition 14. That is no doubt partly true. For years he has been trying to get a tax reform program through the legislature.

Back in 1968 he told the voters that if they would vote "No" on the first Watson go-round, he would see that they got some real tax reform. They did but he hasn't. You can't blame him for being frustrated. Or the voters either.

The problem is, his financial advisors keep giving him lousy advice. Like the time late in 1971 when they told him the state would go bankrupt without a mini-tax increase. Well, the governor supported the mini-tax and the state wound up with a $600 million surplus.

Like I said, they keep selling him Edsels when what he needs is a Mack truck.

PROPOSITION 14 is not all that bad. It has some shortcomings and if it passes there will be a need for some adjustments. But at least it closes some loopholes which need closing and at least it would knock things off dead center.

If it is defeated, it may be a long and bitter time before another tax reform missile gets off the launching pad. And the governor would have to share the blame.

Those who oppose Proposition 14 claim it would create a $1.2 billion revenue gap — meaning a shortage of funds for the government instead of the taxpayers.

There's a catch to that "revenue gap." Because in fine print the big spenders add: "provided you want to continue to fund the various programs at their present level."

WELL, THAT'S WHAT it's all about — this taxpayer rebellion. The people don't want to continue funding all those programs at their present level.

What we really need is a real honest-to-gosh, a-political tax reform. Not just more tinkering around with the existing beat-up and unfair tax system.

We need a limit on the amount of money government can spend each year. Why not? Who said government should have access to some eternal cornucopia? The only thing bottomless about the taxpayers' pocket is the hole left there by taxes and inflation.

We should also have enough guts to quit running after all those federal-money programs which hook the taxpayer on matching funds. Just once someone should say to Washington: "We ain't buying your carrots this time. Those things keep impregnating us with more taxes, state and local."

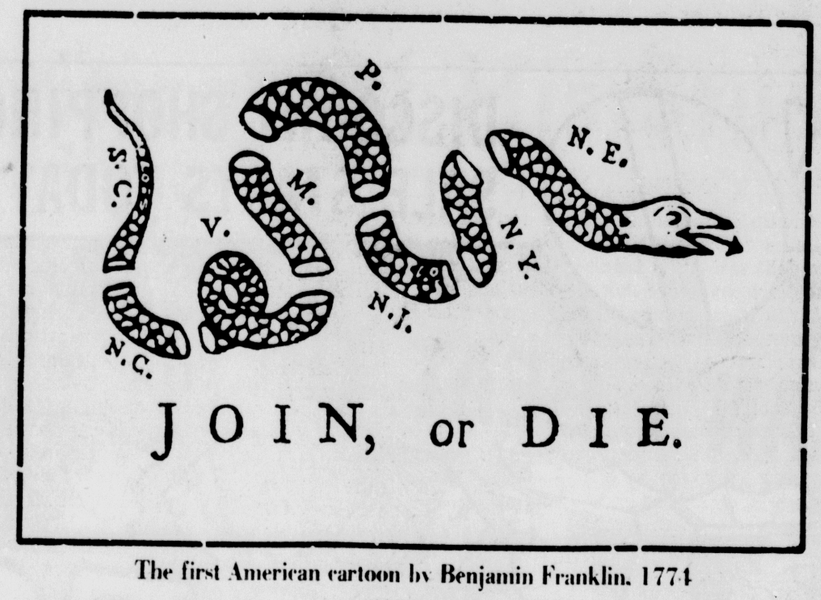

"This must be the seventh-inning stretch."

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

Vote For Your Life —Against Prop. 17

Every fiber of my being shrieks NO on Proposition 17. For the state to endorse execution goes against every moral and ethical teaching of every religion in the world. This is an issue which asks people to make a simple choice — life or death.

I hope people will affirm their own lives by voting no on Proposition 17.

Flag Should Be Flown In Daylight Only

I have been reading with a great deal of interest the stories of the Lincoln-Mercury flag. I commend the Lincoln-Mercury dealer for displaying such a magnificent flag, but I would quote from Public Law 829, 77th Congress. It is the custom to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset and never in inclement weather.

Mill Valley Council Not Building Trust

No truer words were spoken at the meeting of the Mill Valley Council than those by Gerald Hood — all by himself: "I'm the villain so I guess last is where I belong."

A city council that moved arbitrarily to change its appointment of the mayor in the middle of the term is certainly not building a "tone" of trust when it comes to other matters concerning the citizens of Mill Valley.

McGovern Backer Cries 'Foul Play!'

As I-J readers have learned to expect, in your Oct. 14 issue the I-J once again has let its narrow arch-conservative political bias dominate the news.

In the midst of one of the most crucial presidential campaigns in U.S. history, a highly successful major San Francisco appearance by Sen. George McGovernis relegated to page 2, while political news from England rates a front page headline.

This is at the least a blatant and indefensible example of foul play reportage; more nearly to the point you are guilty of violating a basic ethic of journalism: the free press in a free society shall provide equal exposure to opposing major political opinions.

It is hoped that some sense of guilt and community responsibility will motivate the publisher to authorize the news editors to follow the ground rules for fair journalism during the balance of the presidential campaign.

Marine Corps Won't Take Convicted Felon

As the senior officer of the United States Marine Corps in the Bay Area and in charge of recruiting over a 10-state area, I noted with concern the article in your Sept. 26 issue which was headlined "Burglar Ordered Join Marines."

The substance of the story was that a young man had been sentenced to three months in jail for burglary and was told to enter the Marine Corps afterwards in lieu of probation. It also indicated that a previous conviction had been stricken from his police record so he could be enlisted.

While the Corps gladly meets the obligation and challenge of developing spirited young men into effective Marines and responsible citizens, we are by no means a penal institution or an instrument for the rehabilitation of felons. To leave such an impression on the public would be an injustice to the many fine individuals who join our ranks and would concern their families about the quality of people with whom they would be living and working . . .

The individual discussed in your article had, in fact, been tested, but was turned down for enlistment in April 1972. He was then on probation for the previous convictions which the story said had been "expunged from his record in order to help him get in." Current regulations state that "an applicant serving any form of probation is not eligible for enlistment and this disqualification is not waiverable." Consequently, the man in question would not be able to "be in the Marines within 100 days of his release." He could be considered for a moral waiver only upon completion of his three-year probation and even then the granting of a waiver would be extremely doubtful.

Watson Amendment May Be Last Chance

Your editorial comments pro and con the coming election propositions are informative, well written, and of considerable merit. You present your arguments well, and your letters column is open to diverse opinion, so concerning Proposition 14, consider this as such.

A few years ago, a similar reorganization of the tax base was voted down, mainly at the determined insistence of the same self-interest groups who are again theorizing so fearfully now. We were also told by our legislators that we had no use of such folly because they, in their wisdom, promised to lead us to the Valhalla of tax equality. The fact that our courts are now legislating and the people making the decisions, are indicative of the quality of leadership that lies striken in Sacramento

It is now time to disregard the predictors, the prognosticators of fear who tend to horrorize each and every constructive idea emerging in our time. Had historical America needed their wailings, we should still be curtsying to the queen. . . .

Our legislators have given up the ball to the voters. It's fourth down and a long way to go. The Watson Amendment may well be our last pass to a whole new ball game.

Quota System Being Abandoned As Its Faults Are Recognized

SEN. GEORGE McGovern, who invented quotas for Democratic convention delegates and who at one time promised to appoint a quota of blacks to the cabinet, to the Supreme Court and to other government posts equal to their percentage of the population, now says that quotas are bad.

President Nixon, whose administration embraced the Philadelphia Plan which many contractors felt created quotas for blacks in construction jobs, now says that quotas were not intended.

It is appropriate that one racial minority — a minority in every country in the world except Israel, which has been grievously discriminated against for centuries — should be the outspoken force which is turning opinion around in the United States.

The American Jewish Committee, well aware quotas are a reactionary device which increase discrimination while appearing to alleviate it, wrote to both Senator McGovern and Mrs. Nixon requesting them to define their positions.

They did and it is evident that the more they thought about it, the more firm was their opposition.

SAID SENATOR McGovern: "I reject the quota system as detrimental to American society."

Said Mr. Nixon: "Dividing Americans into quotas is totally alien to the American tradition."

They are alien because they are imported from European societies which used quotas to deny Jews and other minorities equal opportunity.

They are detrimental because discriminating in favor of some because of race or background means discriminating against others who, despite fitness, are denied equal opportunity.

In an interview with Robert J. Donovan of the Los Angeles Times, Prof. Seymour Martin Lipset of Harvard put it this way: "Assigning positions on the basis of ancestry rather than ability to handle the job is demoralizing for the group receiving the advantage. If underqualified people are admitted to jobs and institutions, there is little incentive for them to work for achievement. Advancement is linked to their background rather than to their abilities."

THERE IS A NEED to open employment in industry, in the universities, in government to qualified people in minority groups and to qualified people in the majority groups, namely women. But Walter Goodman, a free-lance writer, goes to the heart of the matter when he makes this statement in an article in the New York Times Magazine:

The number of Negroes in most professional sports far exceeds their percentage of the population. Fifty per cent of the starting players in the all-star baseball game this year were blacks. Think how unfair it would be to put inferior whites into positions filled by better qualified blacks because the blacks had exceeded their 11 per cent quota.

The need is to promote equality of opportunity by ending all discrimination and giving those who need it better access to education and training.

Americans Entitled To Know Truth About Campaign Tricks

The American people have every right, before they are called upon to vote Nov. 7, to know what kind of "dirty tricks" may have taken place during the campaigning.

Not to clarify the charges which have now been published in circumstantial detail would be unfair to President Nixon and the Republicans, unfair to Senator McGovern and the Democrats, and above all unfair to the bewildered electorate.

The only possible legitimate argument against coming clean regarding the allegedly underground activities of the Committee to Re-elect President Nixon is that four individuals are under indictment and are awaiting their day in court, to which they have a right.

But surely a fair adjudication of their cases need not be destroyed by fairly informing the American people in general terms before they have to make their fateful decision at the polls.

CHARGES NOW WIDELY published are that a systematic campaign was under way to confuse and sabotage the Democratic party and its candidates. Merely bugging the Watergate headquarters of the Democratic National Committee was only a small part of the picture as it is now portrayed, allegedly based on FBI reports.

The charge that the famous letter which provoked Senator Muskie's emotional response in New Hampshire was forged by a While Huse aide has been denied. But it has not been substantively refuted. Many other accusations have been made in the "dirty tricks" department going far beyond anything known before in American political history. These activities, again by allegation, were financed by the secret fund admittedly in existence and under control of former Sec. of Commerce Maurice Stans and former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell.

The only way to refute such charges is to produce the facts. The exact provenance and use of the huge funds kept in Mr. Stans' safe should be made public. If there were "dirty tricks" on the Democratic side, they ought to be publicized. Some congressional committee ought to see its duty to the American people and call upon the key individuals to testify. If they refuse, their justification should be set forth and evaluated.

IF THE FACTS are not clarified, and only come out after the election, a heavy and unnecessary cloud will hang over the victorious administration. That would be a very dreary beginning for a second term.

This is not corruption in the sense of the corruption of the Harding administration, or of President Grant's. It is a form of campaigning going far beyond any previously accepted standards of American politics, if the charges are true.

I am not naive about "dirty tricks." Abraham Lincoln's campaign managers are said to have forged gallery tickets to help prevent the nomination of William H. Seward in 1860.

I have witnessed the use of forged gallery tickets in more recent conventions. I heard the "voice from the sewers" when Franklin Roosevelt was renominated in Chicago. I suspect that some elections — including John Kennedy's in 1960 — have been greatly affected by boss-controlled and corruptly counted votes in places like Cook County, Ill. Republicans have also controlled the ballot boxes in other districts.

Campaigns are often organized these days by highly skilled professionals in the art of managing opinion. They contrive and use psychological appeals just as they do in selling deodorants or cigarettes or motor cars. This is all rather chilling.

But it can be countered if voters think for themselves. And to think, they must have the most nearly accurate statement tf the facts. That is what we all desperately need today. People seem very unaroused by all this: perhaps they think politicians all play dirty tricks on one another. This time, the trick will be on the American people if it is not honorably and honestly clarified.

College Of Marin Child-Care Center Not Yet On Campus

College of Marin's campus child-care center still isn't actually on campus. The long-awaited nursery for students' offspring was originally scheduled to open in September, in the old chemistry building on College Avenue.

Bureaucratic problems — state, not local — delayed its opening, and now the lack of volunteers is holding things up.

The center is housed in room 7, a vacant classroom, and children can also use the school's library, toilets and playfield. There are 35 pre-schoolers enrolled in the center, with 20 there at any one time.

OF COURSE it's not exactly what the federally funded project was meant to be. For a start the center is open at Greenbrae only from 7:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. When parents have afternoon classes they haul their children to the college in car pools and set them up in what can only be described as 'al fresco cooperatives."

College publicist Earlene Jones tells me the kids go "wherever they can find space, in various locations." And anyone who's been on the Kentfield campus in daytime lately know there's not much spare space. Even for very little ones.

Work on remodelling the old chemistry building is progressing very slowly because only two people have volunteered to work on the carpentry and cement work.

If the weather improves the rooms may be ready by the second week in November, I'm told, providing some more volunteers show up. If unpaid help doesn't materialize, the contractor will have to hire some.

IT HAS TO BE admitted that today's high school students have an increasingly difficult time in this computerized world. (And if you don't believe me, get hold of the entry form for the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. You need to be a computer programmer just to get your name entered on the paperwork.

By all accounts registration was a nightmare at Tamalpais High School this year, where a new "arena scheduling" system was renamed "a massive foul up" by student writers in the Tam News. And at Drake High School the computers took a fit during the summer vacation and messed up all kinds of class schedules.

Enrolled in "Sp Cul Art" at Tam High, a girl could be forgiven for thinking she was going to learn some special culinary arts. But she wouldn't. It's an English offering.

And "Creat Lrng" isn't "Fd's" brother. It's a course entitled "Creative Learning." As opposed to destructive learning, one supposes.

THIS ENTIRE WORD reduction syndrome is downright unhealthy. The worst is WEEP, the acronym for Work Experience Education Program. Some cynical educator probably invented that little goodie after a rough day.

Site Expansion To Be Discussed

Shoreline Unified School District trustees will consider purchasing approximately 15 acres of land to expand the Tomales Elementary School site when it meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Tomales High School.

The board will also discuss the building needs of that elementary school.

Other items to come before the board include a lease agreement with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for parking facilities, a report on the district music program and hospitalization insurance progarm.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Five Of 22 Propositions Have To Do With Schools

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Five propositions dealing with public education are among the 22 on which Californians will vote in the Nov. 7 election.

Propositions 1 and 2 are bond issues, to authorize state borrowing for funds to assist community colleges in expanding their facilities and to build and equip medical and health training facilities at University of California campuses. These are simple, easily understood measures.

PROPOSITION 5 purports to be a "permissive education code" measure. It would add to the state constitution a provision that the Legislature may permit school districts to undertake any program related to education that is not prohibited by law.

This actually is a rather meaningless addition, since school districts already have authority to undertake such programs where not prohibited by law. The trouble is that the Legislature has enacted so many restrictive statutes that the districts often are unsure of what they can and cannot do. None of these statutes would be repealed by Proposition 5, nor would it prevent enactment of more of them in the future.

Proposition 9 would lower the requirement for passage of bond issues to replace structurally unsafe school buildings to a simple majority, rather than two-thirds as now required for all local bond issues. It would apply to bonds for replacement of buildings held unsafe under the Field Act or any other legislation that might be enacted hereafter.

THE MOST controversy regarding any of the five education propositions has surrounded Proposition 21, also known as the Wakefield Initiative for its author, Assemblyman Floyd L. Wakefield, R-Downey.

The controversy began when the California State Board of Education adopted and then repealed racial integration policy guidelines for school districts. Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, then introduced a bill to make the abandoned guidelines law. This measure, known as the Bagley Act, requires that each school district annually survey the racial composition of its schools and take whatever steps necessary to make it uniform school-by-school and grade-by-grade.

Wakefield, a foe of forced busing, promptly set out to repeal the Bagley Act. His bill to do so got nowhere in the Legislature, so he turned to the initiative process. The result is Proposition 21.

BAGLEY SAID his legislation was necessary to prevent federal courts from stepping in and ordering busing across school district lines in California. A series of rulings by lower federal courts at the time made this appear a not-unlikely possibility.

However, while some lower courts were handing down these far-reaching decisions, the U.S. Supreme Court, in Swann vs. Charlotte-Mecklenburg Board of Education, put some limits on what was rapidly becoming legislation by court action.

The Supreme Court, on April 20, 1971, upheld a lower court order for a desegregation plan for the Charlotte-Mecklenburg schools which included busing. But its unanimous decision, prepared by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, said:

"If we were to read the holding of the district court to require, as a matter of substantive constitutional right, any particular degree of racial balance or mixing, that approach would be disapproved and we would be obliged to reverse."

Also: "It should be clear that the existence of some small number of one-race, or virtually one-race, schools within a district is not in and of itself the mark of a system which still practices segregation by law."

PROPOSITION 21 would provide simply that no pupil is to be assigned to a school "because of his race, creed or color." That is essentially what the Supreme Court said in its initial desegregation ruling in Brown vs. Board of Education of Topeka in 1954.

Along with that, Proposition 21 would repeal the Bagley Act.

Phone Rate Increase Rejected

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Public Utilities Commission today turned down Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s request for an interim $103.3 million rate increase.

The Telephone company had asked on Sept. 15 for $328 million per year, with $103.3 million given it immediately as an interim increase. The company claimed that amount was necessary to bring its rate of return to 7.85 per cent as authorized in June, 1971.

The PUC said the company's requests "do not contain a showing of emergency."

"The granting of interim rate relief should be preceded by a showing that an emergency situation or other undue hardship obtains with respect to a utility's operations," the PUC said.

The PUC also said the company's most recent financial data "indicate a marked improvement in Pacific's earnings."

The company filed statements with the PUC showing earnings per share of common stock of $1.76 for August, 1972, as compared with $1.24 for the same month in 1971.

Judge Orders Trial In Oakes' Slaying

SANTA ROSA (AP) — A municipal court judge yesterday ordered Michael Morgan, 35, to stand trial in Sonoma County Superior Court for involuntary manslaughter in the shooting death of Indian leader Richard Oakes.

Judge Frank Passalaqua told Morgan, a YMCA camp manager, to appear in court Nov. 1. The decision ended a two-day preliminary hearing.

Morgan had pleaded innocent to an involuntary manslaughter charge in the Sept. 20 death of Oakes, a Mohawk who led the Indian occupation of Alcatraz Island in 1969.

Passalaqua ordered Morgan to stand trial after Dep. Dist. Atty. Edward Krug asked the charge be changed to second-degree murder and defense attorney Richard Pawson made a motion for acquittal.

The judge rejected both motions, saying, "Self-defense is the real issue. But I find reasonable cause to hold the defendant for involuntary manslaughter."

Sonoma County Dist. Atty. John Hawkes has quoted Morgan as saying he fired the shot that killed Oakes after the Indian leader threatened his life and lunged at him. The incident happened on Scraggs Springs Road leading to the YMCA camp 60 miles northwest of here where Morgan was employed.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

BIRTHDAY MYSTERY? Yes, but our clues make it easy to solve. Imagine an actor who looks like Roman Emperor Julius Caesar. Give him a temper, squint eyes, and bustling energy. Offer him an Academy Award, which he refuses. Our celebrity was born 45 years ago today in Wise, Va., son of a non-nonsense coal miner. He joined the Marines at 17 but ended up teaching creative writing, not close-order drill. Honorably discharged, he became a journalism major at the University of Missouri, tried out for a part in "The Winslow Boy," and won it after memorizing the whole play. It was theater after that. Television cast him as a social worker. Hollywood used him as a gambler, prosecutor, doctor and detective. Then came his role as World War II's flamboyant commander, George S. Patton. Well, you know the rest. The film was an Oscar-winner! Did you guess George C. Scott?

FAMOUS BIRTHDAYS TODAY

1. PIERRE ELLIOTT TRUDEAUX, 53, today, hopes to really celebrate Oct. 30th when Canada holds it national elections. Results will determine whether he remains prime minister. He is a law professor who led the Liberal Party to victory in 1968. He speaks French fluently — Yes? No?

2. MELINA MERCOURI, a democrat in the tradition of ancient Athens (her birthplace), reaches 47 today. She smiled and winked her way into filmgoers favor in "Never on Sunday." Now she's in self-imposed exile, fighting to depose the military regime which took over her country. Okay, girl-watchers, is she blonde, brunette, or red-haired?

3. A. J. LIEBLING, journalist, could teach Agnew a few things about how to evaluate the press. He was born 68 years ago in New York City, became a wartime correspondent, for the New Yorker magazine, then turned to writing books. One of his best known exposes was — "The Pentagon Papers," "The Wayward Pressman," or "The Godfather?"

ANSWERS

1. Yes;
2. Blonde;
3. "The Wayward Press-man."

Hard To Spot The Villian Without The Floppy Mustache

In the old days you could always spot the villain because he wore a black mustache. This doesn't work at the bridge table where the villain may be wearing a full line of cosmetics and a peekaboo dress. The problem is still the same — to spot the villain and keep him or her away from the family homestead.

SPADE OPENER

West opens the seven of spades and East plays the queen. You should assume that West has led from a long suit headed by ace-ten or ace-nine. (East cannot have ace-queen since then West would have 10-9-8-7 and would have led the ten.)

You win the first trick with the king of spades, making a mental note that East is the villain of the piece. If East wins a trick later, back will come a spade and the mortgage will be foreclosed.

West is not a villain. If you lose a trick to West, he cannot continue the spades without allowing your jack to win a trick.

DIAMONDS KEY

Dummy's long diamonds are the key to your contract. You need five diamonds to be safe. You can afford to give up one diamond trick, provided you don't lose this trick to the villain.

After winning the first trick with the king of spades, go over to dummy with the king of clubs and lead a low diamond from dummy. East plays low, whereupon you finesse the nine of diamonds from your hand!

FINESSE WINS

You're willing to lose that trick to West if West happens to hold the jack. As it happens, your finesse wins and you easily take the rest of the diamonds for a total of 11 tricks.

You would lose the contract if you played the diamonds normally. East would gain the lead with the jack of diaonds, and then the spades would ruin you.

DAILY QUESTION

You hold:
♠- K J 5
♥- K 8 5
♦- Q 9
♣- A 10 8 6 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs.

You intend to get to game but cannot afford an immediate juvp bid. You haven't enough spades for a jump raise, and you cannot jump to two no-trump with one of the unbid suits wide open. Bid your suit and await developments.

Youth Panelists Hit Prop. 17

The Marin County Youth Commission has voted unanimously to oppose reinstatement of the death penalty and to support legalization of marijuana on the November ballot.

According to Douglas H. Bosco, county youth coordinator, the commission's action came Monday as the 11-member body moved to sponsor a "town meeting" on the two ballot measures. Details of the youth forum are incomplete, he said.

He said the commission's decision to support legalization of pot found commissioners agreeing that the "use of marijuana is a private matter and should be dealt with as such."

"We endorse Proposition 19 because we feel that the use and possession of marijuana should not render a citizen suspect to arrest and, worse, imprisonment" the commission said in a prepared statement.

Bosco said the commission's opposition to Proposition 17, which would reinstate the death penalty, came at the urging of Coleman Persily, a representative of the American Civil Liberties Union.

The youth coordinator said Persily told the commission that capital punishment discriminates against those who can't afford "a top-notch attorney" and that it does not deter crime.

Viet Package Airlift Off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There are no plans this year for a special airlift of Christmas packages to servicemen in Vietnam, and the Pentagon has urged that packages be mailed early.

Defense Department spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said Tuesday surface mail to the Far East, including Vietnam, should be posted by Oct. 27, parcel air mail by Nov. 27, and air mail by Dec. 1.

The deadlines for mailing to Europe are surface mail, Nov. 11; space available air mail, Nov. 27; parcel air lift, Dec. 1; and air mail, Dec. 11.

Countywide Plan Is Endorsed

Marin Conservation League directors have formally endorsed the proposed Marin Countywide Plan.

The action came after Sol Silver of the county planning department presented the countywide plan proposal at a meeting of the conservation league board on Monday.

The board also decided to support the San Rafael Historic Preservation Committee's efforts to save the Dollar Estate from development, according to Harold Gregg, conservation league executive director.

Directors also approved a formal request to the National Park Service that it acquire private lands atop the Inverness Ridge to add them to the Point Reyes National Seashore and prevent development now under way.

A request that the league participate in a new, separate advisory committee on Mount Tamalpais State Park was declined, Gregg explained, because the league has consistently called for a single advisory committee for all state parks in Marin County.

League officials decided to send a spokesman to the Nov. 3 meeting in Stinson Beach at which state Division of Highway officials will discuss plans for rebuilding the Shoreline Highway.

Peninsula Firm's U.S. Contract

MOUNTAIN VIEW (AP) — GTE Sylvania Inc., under a $77,000 contract to the U.S. Department of Justice, is seeking ways to reduce burglaries and robberies in small businesses, single-family residences and apartment buildings.

The company is conducting a study to determine requirements for reliable and economical alarm systems.

Guilty Plea In Bargain Conference

A two-time convict has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to burglary provided his fate be decided by the probation department.

Alexander Joseph Hudzinski, 26, of San Francisco agreed to a plea bargain with Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, who will sentence him to state prison unless the probation report recommends handling him locally. In that case, Hudzinski will receive a year in jail.

Hudzinski was arrested Aug. 15 after Allen Trushinsky returned to his Sausalito home on Second Street and found Hudzinski inside. Sausalito police said Hudzinski had a watch in his pocket belonging to the resident.

Sentencingis scheduled for Nov. 27.

Hudzinski was previously in prison in New York in 1964 for car theft and in California in 1967 again for car theft.

Promoter Sues Band Company

A promoter living in Marin filed suit yesterday in Marin Superior Court against Mother Earth Productions, saying the rock group Mother Earth failed to make appearances at a midwestern theater.

Melvin L. Goldblatt of Tiburon, through Berkeley attorney Peter Franck, claimed the company, its head, Steven L. Parkes and five unnamed persons should pay him $35,500 for expenses and revenue lost when the group did not appear in Kansas City, Kan., Jan 4-16.

The suit also asks for an injunction preventing anyone from draining off the assets of the company while the suit is in progress and a finding that the company is a "shell and a sham" to protect Parkes from liability.

Bike Rider Robs San Rafael Man

A San Rafael man told police he was robbed yesterday at Northgate Mall, San Rafael, by a bike-riding thief who threatened to kill him.

Gary George Artus of 12 Corte Almaden said he was riding his bicycle at the shopping mall when a man approached on another bike, and demanded money. The man said to him, "If you don't give me the money, I'll kill you", he told police.

Artus gave him two one-dollar bills and the thief pedaled off.

ISN'T GOOD SERVICE WONDERFUL?
Our service is "late" but nice. Marin commuters have found it very convenient that our service department is now open till 7 pm. Monday thru Friday. In most cases we can give your VW a maintenance or tune-up by 7 pm if you come in by 5 pm. Call our private service line 388-5230 and give us a vote for "late" service.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Inhaled Foreign Bodies Usually Can Be Removed By Instruments

Inhaling a peanut, coin, button or safety pin can result in a serious injury. The outcome is ultimately fatal unless the substance is coughed up spontaneously or removed. About 99 per cent of the items can be removed safely with a laryngoscope or bronchoscope, depending upon the location. Prevention is stressed because these accidents can be avoided.

Care should be taken to keep dangerous items, such as safety pins, coins and nuts out of reach of children. Never leave safety pins (open or closed) near the baby while changing a diaper. Children too young to chew ought never be given candy containing nuts. Toys with small, loosely attached parts are not for a toddler. Beads, buttons, and coins are not playthings.

MANY OF THE inhaled foreign bodies are food-related substances. When preparing foods, remove eggshells, seeds, bone fragments, and fruit skins. Never give a child under 4 years old cakes, cookies, and other goodies containing peanuts, cashews, walnuts, or almonds. By the same token, laughing, talking, fighting, running, and other boisterous activities should be constrained during eating. Such confusion is an invitation to trouble.

Adults should avoid setting bad examples, because children readily mimic their actions. Cafe coronary is a condition in which the adult tries to swallow a piece of meat that is too large. It gets caught in the back of the throat and obstructs the respiratory passageway.

ALL TOO OFTEN the victim has had too much alcohol to drink and does not realize what he is doing.

Now and then a child inhales a loose tooth or one that was knocked out. At any rate, if these rules are followed, many serious cases of inhaled foreign bodies can be avoided.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

HAIRLINE WETNESS

REPLY

Nothing, except to wipe the brow with a handkerchief or tissue. The forehead is a favorite site for the formation of beads of perspiration. Medicines (anticholinergic agents) that reduce sweating are available, but the side effects of these chemicals are worse than the sweating. A dusting powder form of diphemanil (Prantal) is reported to be of help in excessive perspiration of the feet.

DIZZINESS

M. T. writes: Is dizziness due to Meniere's disease curable?

REPLY

The majority of victims appear to be cured, as dizziness does not recur. In this condition, vertigo may stem from infection or swelling of the labyrinth of the ear. There are many drugs and procedures that lead to improvement.

CAUSES OF NEURITIS

REPLY

Yes, but it is not always easy to determine. Neuritis may follow infection, irritation, vitamin deficiency, anemia, injury or degeneration. It is also associated with alcoholism and certain poisons.

NEVER SATISFIED

Mrs. B. writes: I have a wonderful husband and three lovely children, but am unhappy because I'm six feet tall. What advice have you for me?

REPLY

Count your blessings. Tall women are queenly. Furthermore, it is a waste of time and energy to stew about something that cannot or need not be corrected. After all, you are not a freak; you got your man, have healthy children, and your health. Stop blaming height for any troubles that may exist. P.S. How tall is your husband?

RUPTURED SPLEEN

R. L. writes: What causes rupture of the spleen in an 8-year-old-boy.

REPLY

Injury to the abdomen is the most common cause. Infections and blood disorders leading to sudden enlargement are among other possibilities.

TWISTED COLON

REPLY

An adhesive band is the most common cause of kinking or obstruction of the intestine. Surgery usually is needed to relieve the abnormality.

GANGRENE NOT CONTAGIOUS

G. R. B. writes: My husband has gangrene on his foot and I have to change the dressings. Is there any danger I will catch it?

REPLY

No, as gangrene is caused by poor circulation, rather than infection. Even gas gangrene is not contagious in the usual sense of the word.

URINARY PHOSPATES

E. P. writes: What causes phosphates in the urine?

REPLY

They are derived largely from food and their presence in the urine is normal. Milk, for example, is rich in this chemical.

Air Piracy Exercises Usually End In Futility

Air piracy always makes front page news, but in reality it's an exercise in futility. Since Nov. 24 there have been 19 hijack extortion attempts against American air firms and all have ended in failure.

The Flight Engineers' International Association's recent newsletter details the hijackings and discloses that not one was successful in terms of benefitting the air pirate.

On Nov. 24 the only attempt not known to have failed took place when a man calling himself "D. Cooper" disappeared after parachuting from an airliner with $200,000 in ransom money. Many believe he was killed in the jump, but no body or money has been found.

Since then, states the newsletter, there have been 19 attempts and all failed, even though five tried to repeat the "Cooper" pattern of parachuting from the aircraft.

Of the 26 persons involved in the 19 hijackings, three were killed and 16 taken into custody by U.S. officials. The two exceptions are a man and a woman who hijacked an airliner to Algeria on June 2 after receiving a $500,000 ransom payment and the Delta hijacking by a "family" of five to Algeria with $1 million. The $500,000 has been returned. The $1 million is expected to be returned. All seven persons are in the custody of the Algerian government.

The newsletter notes that although air piracy is always avidly reported its results are less well known.listed by the association, the hijacker, the airline involved, the amount demanded and the outcome of the hijacking are:

Dec. 24, Everett L. Holt, Northwest, $300,000. Failed, surrendered, money recovered, pretrial psychiatric examination.

An Alarming Report On Nickel Uses

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The government should take nickel out of nickels because it may be too poisonous to humans, according to Dr. William F. Sunderman of Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia.

He told the American Society of Clinical Pathologists that a sweaty palm clutching five-cent pieces can leach the nickel from the coins, which are 75 per cent copper and 25 per cent nickel. Therefore, he said, the wisdom of continuing nickel coins "should be carefully considered."

He also suggested that nickel is a cause of lung cancer among cigarette smokers.

Not only is nickel widely used in industrial processes but it is present in stainless steel utensils, detergents, costume jewelry and watches as well as coins.

Nickel's abundance in the kitchen is the reason twice as many women as men develop nickel germatitis, Sunderman said.

It is estimated, he said, that 5 per cent of all cases of eczema are caused by contact with nickel. Tens of millions of Americans suffer at some time from eczema.

When finely divided nickel comes in contact with carbon monoxide, the result is nickel carbonyl, a toxic gas used widely in industry. With too much exposure, human symptoms begin with headache and nausea and in occasional cases develop into pneunominitis and death.

Small Plane Hijacker Located In Haystack

ENTERPRISE, Ore. (UPI) — A Portland man accused of hijacking a private plane in McCall, Idaho, was captured today three miles north of this northeastern Oregon community.

The suspect, Joseph Johnston, 30, was found in a haystack by a posse of law officers about three miles from where he apparently had wrecked a car stolen earlier from a ranch near Anatone, Wash., 50 miles north.

Johnston apparently offered no resistance, and officers said he apparently had crawled into the haystack in an effort to keep warm as the temperature was 25 degrees in the area, and below freezing much of the clear night.

Johnston is believed to be the man who overpowered sheriff's deputy Darrell Linsky in McCall, Idaho, then forced him to drive to the local airport where he commandeered a light plane piloted by Philip Remalkus and forced him to fly to a ranch near Anatone, 100 miles from McCall.

"I couldn't believe it," said the ranchowner's wife. "I thought he was going to hit the fence."

Mrs. Johnson said the hijacker "came up the road real slow," then "reached in his coat for a gun and said he was wanted for robbery in five states."

She said he took a station wagon after shooting out the tires of another car and the plane's tires, and tearing a telephone off the wall.

The pilot's wife said in McCall that her husband told her by telephone after the incident that Johnston fed the deputy sheriff "a whole handful of tranquilizers and there he (the deputy) was passed out on the back seat" during the flight.

Hours Of Child Care Center Are Extended

My School, a child care center in Cotati, has extended its operation to evening hours, according to director Marcia Glazier.

The school at 768 East Cotati Avenue will care for children 2 years and older on Mondays through Thursdays from 5 to 10 p.m., Fridays from 5 p.m. to midnight and Saturdays from 6:30 p.m. to midnight.

The center, which also operates a day program, was opened two years ago for parents who attend Sonoma State College and has since been extended to any parent. No registration is necessary for the evening school since enrollment is on a drop-in basis. Dinner will be served at 6 p.m. except on Saturdays.

Retired Workers Set Discussion

Recent legislation affecting retired federal employees will be discussed at an open meeting of the Marin Chapter of Retired Federal Civil Service Workers at noon Friday at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 167 Tunstead Avenue, San Anselmo.

President Don Maloney will also report on a recent national convention in Fort Worth.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Youth Is Given 120 Days For Store Burglary

William Weldon Harris, 19, of no known address has received 120 days in jail for breaking into a San Anselmo antique store July 21.

Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Superior Court, who heard the trial last month, placed Harris on probation for three years, ordered him to pay for damage done and told him to undergo testing for drug use.

"I think you have the makings of a good citizen," the judge said. "Obviously, you acted very stupidly in this matter."

Harris's defense to the burglary charge was that he was drunk when San Anselmo police found him behind The Collective at 316 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. A rear door had been smashed and a display case broken into, police said.

Two Rezoning Pleas Approved

The Novato Planning Commission has approved rezoning approximately 67 acres east of 496 Olive Avenue from limited agriculture to planned residential for Woodlands Co. and seven acres from limited agricultural to planned residential at 1667 Hill Road for Jack Kinney.

Both will go next to the city council, the first for annexation and rezoning, and the other for rezoning, according to Planning Director Brian W. Mattson.

The commission on Monday continued until 8 p.m., Nov. 13, consideration of rezoning from duplex to multiple, two lots at 1016 Third Street for Louis J. Saffores, and consideration of reclassifing agricultural zoned land within the city.

Corona Defense Granted Hearing

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (UPI)—A bail hearing will be held Friday on a defense motion for the release of accused mass murderer Juan V. Corona.

Corona, 38, a farm labor contractor, has been denied bail for 17 months since his arrest on charges of slaying 25 itinerant farm workers and burying their bodies near the Feather River.

Superior Court Judge Richard Patton also granted a defense motion that the trial be postponed until next Tuesday to allow defense attorney Richard Hawk time to review prosecution reports on the case.

ALMANAC

By U. P. International

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 18, the 292nd day of 1972 with 74 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

American historian James Truslow Adams was born Oct. 18, 1878.

On this day in history:

In 1767, the boundary between Maryland and Pennsylvania was finally settled, later to be known as "The Mason-Dixon Line."

In 1873, the first rules governing intercollegiate football were drawn up by representatives of Yale, Princeton, Rutgers and Columbia University.

In 1968, American sprinters Tommie Smith and John Carlos were suspended by the U.S. Olympic Committee for making black power gestures at the games in Mexico City.

A thought for the day: American poet Joaquin Miller said, "That man who lives for self alone lives for the meanest mortal known."

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Singer-actress Barbara McNair was arrested for possession of nearly a half ounce of heroin at the Playboy Club in McAfee, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Miss McNair and her husband, Rick Manzie, were arraigned on the heroin possession charges in federal court here. Each was ordered to post a $10,000 bond.

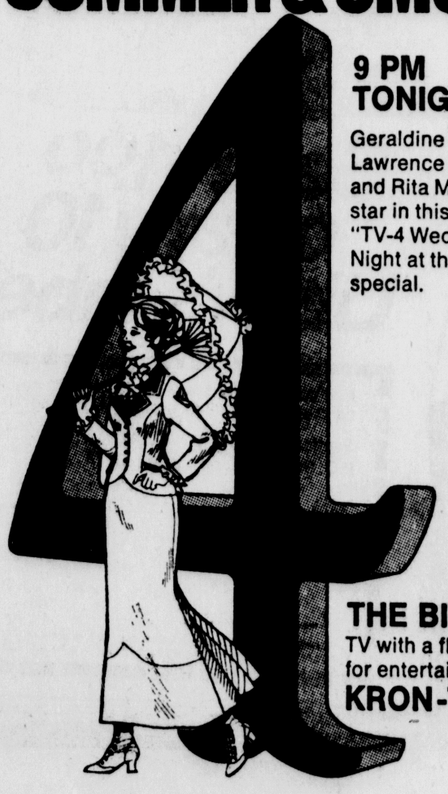

A spokesman for the Playboy Club said Miss McNair appeared three times this week in the swank Penthouse of the club-hotel in private performances for a group of contentioneers. She was arrested Monday night in her dressing room.

The U.S. Attorney's office said the singer and her husband, who acts as her business agent, were each charged with possessing 13 grams of the drug.

Busy Night For Trustees Of College

Marin Community College District board meeting tonight will be a three-tier session.

Trustees will begin their meeting at 7 o'clock in Room 160 College of Marin with the campus budget committee to discuss its proposed budget calendar. They will go into closed session at 7:50 with legal counsel to discuss the problem-ridden computer contract with Radio Corporation of America, then at 8 o'clock the regular board meeting will start in room 101 in the science building.

The board will consider a request to raise part-time teachers' salaries from the present rate of 60 per cent of full-time pay, to 80 per cent; two trustees disagreed at a special meeting Monday on whether the raise was justified, Francis Compton favoring the raise, president Theodore C. Wellman opposing it.

Also on the agenda is the possibility of cutting the number of tennis courts at Indian Valley Colleges from the original 12 planned, approval of policies on district travel, administrative leave, and tuberculosis testing, and proposed campus parking regulations.

THE AFTERMATH — This is an overall view of a section of concrete freeway bridge under construction at Pasadena which collapsed yesterday, killing six workmen. Twenty-one other workmen were injured, six critically, when the span collapsed as concrete was poured into forms.

Six Killed In Bridge Collapse

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Workmen using jackhammers to drill through hardening concrete recovered three more bodies early today in the debris of a collapsed freeway bridge.

The death toll from the construction accident Tuesday afternoon rose to six and authorities said all missing workmen were accounted for.

Twenty-one workmen were injured, six critically, when the four-lane freeway bridge collapsed with a roar when wet concrete was poured into forms.

There was an instant's warning, a sharp crack, survivors said, but many of the workmen on the bridge were dropped into a ravine under tons of steel and concrete.

"As we ran off the top of the bridge we could see it disappearing behind us," said Charles Jones, 27, a carpenter.

A force of 350 workers, many recruited by appeals for volunteers from the construction trade unions, tore at the rubble. The brilliant blue-white light of cutting torches stabbed through the dark in the early morning hours as workmen raced to dig into the 20 foot deep mound before the drying concrete set too hard to cope with.

"As the concrete sets, this becomes more of a problem," said safety engineer Bud Gross, as the material hardened to the point where workers began calling for jackhammers.

A 200-foot section of the center span of the freeway bridge being built over Arroyo Seco wash, about two miles north of the Rose Bowl, collapsed, dropping workmen and material about 90 feet into the ravine.

"It was like a bomb, like an earthquake," said construction worker Lewis Wytch.

"As soon as I heard the sound of the first crack I knew the whole thing would go and I started running," said Jones. "I never thought I'd make it. But then I saw my side wasn't going down, only the other side was going down and I kept running."

According to a spokesman for the state Division of Highways, the bridge's falsework—the wood and metal scaffolding and forms which hold wet concrete in place while it dries— collapsed as the concrete was being poured.

An investigation was ordered, spearheaded by the Federal Highway Administration, which is financing 92 per cent of the project, the $8.9 million Foothill Freeway between Glendale and Pasadena.

Men with sirens were stationed at key points to watch for signs of another collapse, and crew chiefs carried whistles to relay the warnings.

Two More Members Of Terrorist Gang Surrender

CHICAGO (UPI)—Dressed in Army fatigue jackets, two fugitive De Mau Mau gang members surrendered to authorities Tuesday night.

Their surrenders brought to eight the number of young blacks, identified as members of a black terrorist gang, charged with the execution-style murder of nine white persons.

All eight men will be arraigned today.

"Darrell Patry just walked into the criminal court building with his lawyer and told the judge he was giving himself up. He didn't say anymore," a spokesman for Sheriff Richard J. Elrod said.

"Garland Jackson came into police headquarters and surrendered. He said nothing," the spokesman said.

The men surrendered a few hours after Elrod went on national television with photographs of the wanted men. Elrod said FBI and Army intelligence agents were working with his office to explore the far-flung ramifications of the case.

Patry and Jackson were named in fugitive warrants after police rounded up six other black De Mau Mau members and charged them in the mass murders of two families and the slaying of two young men. All victims were white.

As the two were taken into custody, investigators worked from a list of some 150 coded names of De Mau Mau members attempting to locate suspects in a 10th murder.

A Homely Rooster Finds A Loving Home In Arizona

TEMPE, Ariz. — Bet you've never heard of a rooster so ugly his owner described him as looking like "a plate of warmed-over spaghetti."

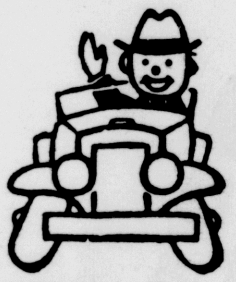

Mrs. John Musselman had this rooster and it was so uncomely that she let it be known she didn't want it around. Unattractive roosters must be pretty uncommon in Arizona. And, for some reason, homely roosters seem to be in large demand.

Mrs. Musselman had calls from all over. The first to arrive was a man and his six children. One of his kids picked up this unnamed, unseemly fowl, petted it and it soon fell asleep. Doubtless glad to find someone who loved him.

One man who phoned Mrs. Musselman asked just how ugly her rooster was and when she gave the spaghetti description, he said: "If he's that ugly, I don't want him."

Electrician Keeps Idle Minds Busy

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — It started two and a half years ago when Stephen Simmons, grandfather of five and an electrician, was fixing a light switch and a young fellow who lived across the street got interested.

"He asked me to teach him the electrical trade, and I did, and pretty soon his friends wanted to be taught too," recalls Simmons.

Now the thing has grown into a regular but unofficial school housed in Simmons' basement. With three additional faculty volunteers, instruction is offered in needlework, typing and first aid, as well as electricity. The enrollment is 55 — 33 boys and 22 girls, and it's all for free.

"For me it's a hobby," says Simmons who often finds it tough to get jobs for himself. "But for the kids, it puts their idle minds to work and gives them something they like to do."

Some Just Call Him A Deposit Desperado

DETROIT — Robert Zeleznik, 54, could not be called a bank robber, but there are those who may consider him a premium pirate or deposit desperado.

His "crazy hobby," as he calls it, is moving his money in and out of banks, collecting free premiums offered for new accounts. Over the years, he has accumulated a stack of miscellaneous items such as alarm clocks, cooking ware, TV table sets, kitchen clocks, tote bags, timers, thermos bottles, blankets and salad bowls.

But he's beginning to think his great days are over. Banks are requiring larger and larger deposits and longer and longer withdrawal deadlines.

"I don't have that much money to work with," said Zeleznik sadly.

But he has enlarged his field of operations. He studies newspapers for bank ads offering premiums and he has made deposits from Chicago to California.

"Five or six years ago, I saw an ad in Minneapolis and deposited $200 there. It's still there, and now I can't even remember what gift I got." Then he added somberly, "Probably a salad bowl." (Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

Building Shelves Is A Breeze

Then you have to procure the materials. One of the most popular do-it-yourself libraries begins with press boards, cinder blocks and colored burlap.

The press boards can be cut into any desired length, usually 8" by 1" by 1". This allows for the weight of the books, and is a standard size. The boards are then covered with the colored burlap.

The blocks are then arranged three to the 8' board, alternating the cinders, length-wise and then width-wise for each level.

Regular book shelf supports are then anchored to the wall and the top two boards for added support.

Wendy Cris Advises Shoppers At Wards

Wendy Cris, who has been involved in modeling activities for more than five years, is Wendy Ward for Montgomery Ward in the Corte Madera Center where she has plenty of advice for young women about fashions.

She also has tips on etiquette, ideas and instruction on modeling, table settings and the like.

And she is able and well qualified on these matters, having racked up an impressive list of credits in fields where she meets the public eye, either in person or pictures.

Here are some of the accomplishments of Miss Cris, whose measurements are 35-25-35. (The blue-eyed blonde is 5 feet 6.6 inches tall, and is a size 10.)

She started her career by attending charm and fashion and modeling classes in the House of Charm in San Francisco.

Subsequently she had experience in all types of modeling — at wholesale shows, in photography and in conventions and public relations work.

She is a member of the Screen Actors Guild and the Screen Extras Guild. She has worked on the sets of several motion pictures, meeting Steve McQueen on the set of "Bullett"; Woody Allen ("Play It Again Sam"); Robert Redford ("The Candidate"); and Barbara Streisand and Ryan O'Neal ("What's Up Doc").

Wearing a wig Miss Cris was Carol Burnett's standin in "Tillie and Pete" for two days.

Also she has been in the following television commercials Clairol, Carling Beer, Winston and Annie Greensprings. And she was the Air Force's choice, four years ago, to represent the new Air Force nurse image in a brochure and in a national advertising campaign.

For a year she taught makeup application and techniques for a San Jose cosmetic firm.

The Property Tax Paying Time Can Be Confusing

AVA, N.Y. — The good news is that the Joseph Kwasniewskis do not mind paying taxes to two counties.

The bad news is that it's confusing. Here's why: After building their home 18 years ago on a wooded knoll, a surveyor found that the county line ran smack through the living room.

Taxation is the big problem, Joe says. "Legally, your residence is where you sleep. Since our bedroom is in Onedia County, we pay the majority of our taxes to that county. But much of our property is in adjoining Lewis County and therefore subject to Lewis' taxes."

But that's not all. For years Joe kept his pack of hunting dogs on land in Lewis County, so paid dog taxes accordingly. So now he's moved his dog to the other county.

There's more: Joe has a wooded shooting preserve on his land — and it lies in both counties — but the bird seasons in each differ.

Prince Charles Pipe Band To Appear Saturday At Center

The prize-winning Prince Charles Pipe Band that will present "Evening in the Highlands" at 8:30 p.m. Oct. 28 at the Veterans Memorial Building, Civic Center, will appear in a special concert at the Corte Madera Center on Saturday.

The San Francisco Bay Area band is composed of more than 70 pipes and drummers, all members of four units within the band. The band plays march music, light Scottish airs and lively dance music.

Band members wearing the Prince Charles Edward Stuart Tartan have appeared at numerous engagements on the West Coast since the founding of the band four years ago by J. William Merriman of Mill Valley.

Guests of the band who will also appear on the program are the well-known Bay Area Scottish artists, James Wright, tenor, and Richard Lancaster, "The Scottish Bard".

Performing the hundreds-of-year-old dances will be two Marin County high school students, Theresa Reynolds of San Rafael, and Erin Burgin of Mill Valley, who are members of the band's precision dance team, directed by Lori Kinnear of Palo Alto.

The contest will be at the center on Oct. 28. Entries must be on the mall by 1 p.m. with judging to be staged at 2 p.m.

List Reusables

In decorating a living room, make a list of reusable or emotionally essential items such as Aunt Carrie's drop-leaf table or a cocktail table bought years ago at auction, says Selig's Elroy Edson. Donate the extraneous to the Salvation Army. Then, and only then, consider buying new things.
